Lancaster Farming

Serving The Central and Southeastern Pennsylvania Areas

Vol. 20 No. 9 | Lancaster Farming, Saturday, January 11, 1975 | $2.00 Per Year

Huge Crowds Attend 59th Pa. Farm Show

Farm families from all over Pennsylvania's southeastern corner fared very well at the 59th edition of the Pennsylvania Farm Show, coming back home laden with ribbons, plaques and prize checks. Although the doors didn't officially open until Monday morning, there was already a huge crowd walking through the exhibit hall on Sunday afternoon.

When the Farm Show did open on Monday, sunny skies brought a near-record number of visitors to the 80-acre complex in the Commonwealth capital. Attendance for the first day was estimated at 150,000, the best first day turnout since 1967 when the current week-long record of 710,000 was established. The sun gave way to clouds and light snow by late afternoon, but it had no affect on the crowd.

Even the spirit of detente contributed to the size of the free gate. Dr. Ivan A. Gavva, agricultural counselor at the Soviet Embassy in Washington, D.C. and his assistant, Dr. Vladimir G. Sheremetev, wound up a two-day visit to Harrisburg with a check of the latest in agricultural technology on display at the Farm Show.

The queens of the Farm Show — dairy cows — were the first livestock into the ring on Monday morning and in a twist of reverse English with respect to the equal rights movement, bulls were stricken from the competition in the dairy department at the 1975 Show.

The sun's reappearance at the second day came too late to boost the attendance. Officials estimated the crowd at 125,000, off 25,000 from opening day. Most of Monday's four-inch snowfall had melted away by mid-afternoon, as the outside temperature climbed into the mid-40's.

The traditional "big Wednesday" crowd outdid itself as more people than ever before poured into the huge complex at Cameron and Maclay Streets. Officials estimated the attendance at 210,000, surpassing the previous record by 5,000 established in 1972 and equalled the following year. Every bit of available open space within miles of the Farm Show was pressed into duty as a parking area.

Many of the emergency parking lots were muddy, causing one state police officer to joke, "As long as the hood ornament wasn't covered over, we felt it was okay to keep parking the cars."

One of the sidelights at the Wednesday show was a milking contest challenge from Bette Altemus, ac-

Robert Hess, center, got a congratulatory kiss from Mom on Thursday after winning the 1975 reserve grand championship at the junior steer show in the Farm Show Arena. Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hess, Lancaster RD2.

Lancaster Co. Youth Wins Steer Reserve

The reserve grand champion baby beef award at the Farm Show went this year to 15-year-old Bob Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hess, Lancaster RD2. The Penn Manor sophomore, in his sixth year of showing, lost the grand champion honor to Tom Templeton, from Ebensburg, Cambria County.

Bob's steer was a champion light-heavyweight that tipped the scales at 1195 pounds. It is the son of a Maine-Anjou sire and a Charolais-Angus dam, and was born on the farm of Carl Herr, a well-known Lancaster County cattle breeder.

Bob reported that he's been walking his steer for at least a mile every day to get it ready for the Farm Show. The animal was named grand champion at the 1974 Lampeter - Strasburg Community Fair. Another Hess steer, shown by Bob's 11-year-old brother, Tim, took a first place ribbon in the 1126-1135 pound category of light heavyweight competition at the Farm Show.

Competition this year was strictly by weight class rather than by breeds as it had been in previous years. The winning animal was a coal black Chianina-Angus crossbred.

James Wylie, from West Chester in Chester County, showed the champion lightweight, while his

Dairymen Honor Smith and Scott

A pair of York Countains shared the spotlight on Tuesday night during the 105th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association at Harrisburg during the Farm Show.

The 1974 Pennsylvania Dairymen's Award of $100 and an inscribed plaque "for valueable and noteworthy contributions to the state's dairy industry" went to York County Agent John Smith.

At the same meeting, Robert M. Scott, Delta R2, received the 1974 Superior Supervisor Award from the Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Smith has been York County agent since 1952, and the award recognized his program to promote effective dairy production and marketing practices in his county.

The results of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association testing reports attest to his promotion of sound production improvement practices in York County. In 1952, there were 92 herds with 2,488 cows on test with an average production of 8,134 pounds of milk and 345 pounds of butterfat.

In 1974, 78 DHIA herds with 4,417 cows produced 13,031 pounds of milk and 508 pounds of butterfat.

The FFA Star Farmer for 1975 is Jeffrey Miller, shown here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Miller. Jeff is a senior at Kutztown Area High School.

FFA Honors Go to Area Youths

Lancaster and Berks County youths shared top honors at the 46th Annual Pennsylvania FFA Convention held in Harrisburg on Wednesday of Farm Show Week.

Jeffrey C. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Miller, Kutztown RD3, was named State Star Farmer for 1975. The State Star Agribusinessman for 1975 is James Felpel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin B. Felpel, Ephrata RD2.

Jeffrey, 17, is a senior at Kutztown Area Senior High School. In addition, to helping with the family operation of 280 head of dairy animals and 1000 acres, Jeffrey has developed his own farming program to include 26 head of dairy, 66 acres of field corn, 21 acres of silage corn, 33.5 acres of alfalfa, 25 acres of barley, 13 acres of oats, 6 acres of sorghum, 70 acres of pasture and 9 head of dairy beef animals.

While accomplishing this, Jeffrey manages to keep up his school work, he is a member of the National Honor Society. He is also active in Grange and 4-H.

Jeffrey's leadership activities in FFA were serving as Chaplin, Reporter and President of his local Chapter, and he is currently serving as President of the Berks County FFA. He also attended the National FFA Leadership Training Conference in Washington, D.C.

Some of Jeffrey's other awards of recognition were: State Production Credit Farming Award, for outstanding record keeping: a gold medal in the State Project Book Evaluation Contest; a member of the first place FFA Dairy Judging Team and represented Pennsylvania at the National FFA Dairy Judging Contest, as a team they won a gold medal and as an individual Jeffrey won a silver medal.

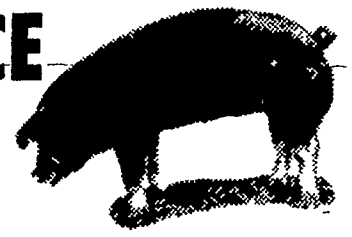
IMPORTANT NOTICE

LET US HANDLE YOUR FEEDER PIGS



NEXT FEEDER PIG SALE TUES., JAN. 21

Feeder pigs consigned to Walter M. Dunlap and Sons must arrive at the stockyards between 7 A.M. and 11 A.M. the day of the sale. Upon arrival they will be inspected by a veterinarian, tagged, and state graded.

The two sales scheduled for January will be held on Tuesday, the 7th, and Tuesday, the 21st, starting at 1 P.M. Consignors wishing to tag their pigs on the farm can get the tags at the state office at the stockyards, not later than 4 P.M. any day preceding the sale, thereby saving 25 cents per pig.

Consign all your feeder pigs to Walter M. Dunlap & Sons where they will be handled by a capable and experienced staff, and for further information call 717-397-5136.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

JAN. 13-19, 1975

Arctic's leakin', no streakin'.

Order your spring tools now . . . King Kala Kaua of Hawaii died Jan. 19, 1891 . . . Average length of days for the week, 9 hours 26 minutes . . . Scott arrived at South Pole Jan. 18, 1912 . . . Feed the birds now . . . Congress legislated "a star for every state" to flag Jan. 13, 1794 . . . Marriage best this week . . . Swiftly runs pass es away when happiness is in the day

Old Farmer's Riddle: What is of most use when it is used up? (Answer below.)

Ask the Old Farmer: Where did the expression "O.K." come from? J.D., Burlington, Vt.

It is a tradition that General Andrew Jackson, the 7th President of the United States, signed military documents O.K. for all correct. It might also have come from a shortening of 'och', a Choctaw word meaning "it is well."

Home Hints: To remove mildew wet the attack and rub with a mixture of one-half chalk and one half soap. Place in the sun until gone. Riddle answer: An umbrella

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECASTS

Local Dairymen Take Prizes At Farm Show

Dairymen in the five-county area served by Lancaster Farming managed to capture some top prizes in all but the Guernsey competition at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Brown Swiss

For the second year in a row, Donald Trimble, Peach Bottom, Lancaster County, showed one of his Donsdell Farms cows to the breed championship at the Farm Show. Donsdell Stretchy Carol, a three-year-old, was also judged senior champion.

Reserve grand champion honors went to "Sunnyvaler Flipper," a 7-year-old cow owned by J. E. and R. O. Snelling, of Birchrunville, Chester County.

Harry L. Leininger, of Ephrata, Lancaster County, captured the junior championship with "Leininger Beautician," a senior yearling.

Another Snelling entry, "Snelling Design Hone," a junior yearling, won the reserve junior championship.

Snelling also won premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards.

Holsteins

Paul Miller, of Linglestown, Dauphin County, showing "Fran-Mar-Co Appollo C," a 4-year-old, walked off with grand championship honors in Holstein judging competition at the 59th Farm Show. The same animal earlier was judged senior champion. Miller is the father of Deborah Miller who currently reigns as State Dairy Princess.

"Huntsdale Paula Blacky," a 3-year-old Holstein, exhibited by Meryl H. Sheaffer, of Carlisle, Cumberland County, won the reserve grand and reserve senior championships.

The junior champion, "Woodbine Ideal Pride," a senior yearling, was shown by James P. Knight, of RD2, Airville, York County.

J and A. Foster, of Petersburg, Huntingdon County, exhibited the reserve junior champion, "Globe Run Capsule," a senior yearling.

Premier exhibitor and premier breeder awards went to George Knight and Family, of RD2, Airville, York County.

Linda Kauffman, of Elizabethtown, Lancaster County, for the second straight year, captured the championship in junior Holstein classes. This year she won with "C. Mount Haven Ideal," a 6-year-old. She is a member of the Lancaster County 4-H Dairy Club.

Reserve championship honors went to George M. Knight, III, of RD2, Airville, York County, showing his 2-year-old cows, "Woodbine Ivanhoe Fan." George is a member of the Milk and Money 4-H Dairy Club.

Jersey

Walebe Farms, Inc., of Collegeville, Montgomery County, caputred three of six championships in Jersey open class judging competion at the 59th Farm Show.

Walebe Farms entries captured the grand championship with "Walebe Favorite Lily," a 3-year-old. The same animal also was judged senior champion. Their other winner was "Walebe T Kelly Sleeper," a senior yearling that won the junior championship.

Reserve grand and reserve senior championship honors went to "W. A. Advancer Sleeper," a 2-year-old cow exhibited by Stephens Brothers, of Honesdale, Wayne County.

Beth Hemminger, of Carlisle, Cumberland County, won the reserve junior championship with "Huntsdale Sparkie Generator," a junior yearling.

Walebe Farms won both premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards.

Cynthia Ann Waltemyer, of Collegeville, Montgomery County, showing "Walebe Milestone Nar," a 6-year-old cow, won the championship in Jersey youth classes at the 59th Farm Show.

Reserve champion honors went to "Top-O-Hill Vedas Mis," a 2-year-old, owned by Bruce A Heller, of Downingtown, Chester County.

Cynthia Ann is a member of the Keystone 4-H Dairy Club and Bruce belongs to the Chester Valley 4-H Dairy Club.

Milking Shorthorn

James H. Young, of Newville, Cumberland County, showing "Greenvista Supp Peggy," a 4-year-old, won the grand championship in Milking Shorthorn judging competition at the 59th Farm Show. The same animal earlier judged senior champion.

"Pinesedge Melody ESP," a 3-year-old, owned by Samuel G. Yoder, of Shoemakersville, Berks County, won the reserve grand and reserve senior championships.

James H. Young also showed the junior champion, "The Springs TFPPA," a heifer calf.

The reserve junior championship was won by "Pinesedge Cherry 14T," a heifer calf exhibited by Wendy Yoder, of Shoemakersville.

Samuel G. Yoder was winner of premier exhibitor and premier breeder awards.

Nedra J. Yoder, of Shoemakersville, Berks County, showing "Pinesedge Kings Car," a 4-year-old, won the Milking Shorthorn youth championship at the 59th Farm Show.

Nedra's sister, Wendy, won the reserve championship with "Pinesedge Cherry 14T," a heifer calf. Both are members of the Northern Berks County 4-H Club.

Ayrshire

William Ocker, of Shippensburg, Cumberland County, and Kennard E. Henley, III, of Cochranville, Chester County, two 4-H members, captured all championships in Ayrshire female classes at the 59th Farm Show.

The grand and senior championship was won by an Ocker entry, "Masonic Homes Flashy," a 5-year-old cow. Another Ocker cow, a 3-year-old, "Harriet Super Holly," was judged reserve grand champion and reserve senior champion.

Kennerd Henley won both junior titles in open class judging. "Towerview Kellys SM," a junior yearling was judged junior champion, and the reserve junior champion was "Towerview Flashy Minerva," a senior yearling.

John E. Ocker and Family, of Shippensburg, won both the premier exhibitor and premier breeder awards.

"Masonic Homes Flashy," a William Ocker 5-year-old cow that captured the grand championship in open Aryshire classes at the 59th Farm Show, also won the grand championship in junior classes. William is a member of the Cumberland County 4-H Dairy Club.

Kennard Henley's 9-year-old Aryshire, "Androssan GLR Minerva," captured the reserve championship in junior classes. Kennard is a member of the Manor 4-H Dairy Club.

Farmers Need Complete Records

Farmers must keep complete records—so they won't overlook investment credit eligibility, depreciation expenses, and deductible items like farm magazines, farm organization dues, bank service charges, utility bills on the part of the house used for a farm office, overnight business trips, food eaten by hired help, and money spent to board hired workers, remind Extension farm management specialists at The Pennsylvania State University.

Area Men Receive Honorary Keystones

Two Lancaster County vocational agriculture instructors and a Quarryville businessman were made Honorary Keystone Farmers on Wednesday of Farm Show Week. The award presentations were made during the 46th Annual Pennsylvania FFA Convention.

Receiving the awards were E. Truman Ferguson, 201 S. Summit St., Quarryville; August S. Birchler, head of the vo-ag department at Penn Manor High School, Millersville; and James Kerr, horticulture instructor at Brownstown and Willow Street vo-tech schools.

Ferguson, co-owner of Ferguson and Hassler Shopping Center in Quarryville, has purchased the grand champion steer at the Solanco Community Fair for about the past 15 years. He has also supported FFA programs in various other capacities.

Birchler and Kerr have both been vo-ag instructors and FFA chapter advisers in Lancaster County for about seven years. The awards are given to recognize efforts of those who have given unusual support to the program. Birchler has produced many degree-winning students while Kerr has worked with FFA members at Brownstown and was instrumental in setting up the new Hans Herr FFA Chapter at Willow Street.

Holstein Sets Record for Butterfat

An official production record exceeding a half ton of butterfat has been completed by Blossomelle Ivanhoe Jerry 6366596 (VG), a Registered Holstein cow owned by Herbert and Rhelda E. Royer, Lancaster This is the first time that "Ivanhoe" has achieved the 1,000 lb. butterfat production level in a single lactation This record ranks among 4,478 similarly completed by Registered Holstein cows in official test

The Pennsylvania Holstein's official record of production totalled 29,396 lbs. of milk and 1,067 lbs of butterfat in 365 days She started her lactation at the age of 7 years 8 months and was milked two times daily

Blossomelle Ivanhoe Jerry was bred in the Royer herd. She was sired by Tidy Burke Jerry 1300014 (EX), a bull that has earned Silver Medal Production Sire recognition.

Pennsylvania State University supervised the weighing and sample testing of her production in cooperation with the Dairy Herd Improvement Registry program of the Holstein Friesian Association of America.

Farm Commentary

NUMBER OF FARMS: INCREASES SEEN IN SOME STATES

Some interesting things in that Number of Farms and Land in Farms report USDA issued last week Admittedly, it does show that the estimated number of farms to be operated in the US in 1975 (at 2,819,000) is down But, that total is down only 4-10 of 1 pct from the 1974 total of 2,830,000, and only 1 pct. below the 2,844,000 operated in 1973.

It also shows that land in farms, at 1 086 billion acres for 1975 is only slightly below the 1 088 billion total for 1974 and 1 089 billion total for 1973 And, that average size of farms, at 385 acres is up only slightly from the 384 average of last year and 1973's average of 383

A closer look shows that the number of farms is expected to increase in New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia and hold firm in all the six New England States New York's total is expected to move up to 58,000 from 57,000 last year and 56,000 in 1973 Pennsylvania's is expected to move up to 72,000 from 71,000 last year and in 1973 West Virginia's is expected to move up to 27,000 from 26,500 in both 1973 and 1974

PRICES RECEIVED DECLINE FOR 2ND STRAIGHT MONTH

The Index of Prices Received by Farmers decreased 5 points (3 pct) during the month ended Dec 15 to 177 pct. of its Jan - Dec 1967 average It marked the 2nd straight month of decline and left the index 8 points (4 pct) below a year ago

Meanwhile, the Index of Prices Paid by Farmers for Commodities and Services increased 1 point (1 pct) to a record 179 It was 25 points (16 pct) above a year earlier This combination dropped the Ratio of Prices Received to Prices Paid 3 points to 99 It was 120 a year ago

Under the old 1910-14 formulas, Prices Received declined 13 points to 449 and were 470 a year ago. Prices Received moved up to 613 from 610 and were 525 a year ago And, the Parity Ratio declined 3 points to 73 - its lowest point since June of 1972 A year ago it had stood at 90

COMMERCIAL MEAT OUTPUT HEADING FOR RECORD HIGH?

U S commercial red meat production just may hit a record high this year The 3 2 billion lbs produced in November was 2 pct more than a year earlier and brought the Jan - Nov. total to 34 2 billion lbs That's only slightly below the 34 5 billion produced in all of 1973 and within hailing distance of the record 37 36 billion lbs. produced in all of 1971

Here's the breakdown Nov beef output at 1 9 billion lbs, up 4 pct from a year earlier. This brought the 11 - month total to 20 9 billion lbs, up 8 pct from a year earlier and close to the 21 1 billion lb total for all of 1973 The record 22 2 billion lbs produced in 1972

Pork Nov output was 1 1 billion lbs down 1 pct from a year earlier But the 11-month total of 12 5 billion is close to the 12 75 billion total for all of 1973 The record 14 6 billion lbs produced in 1971

Veal. Nov output at 59 million lbs, up 79 pct from a year earlier, the 11-month total, at 396 million lbs, up 32 pct. from a year ago and well above the 325 million lbs produced during all of 1973. Mutton Nov output of 32 million lbs, down 20 pct. from a year earlier The 11-month total, at 422 million lbs, down 10 pct from a year earlier

BUTTER OUTPUT UP, AM. CHEESE DOWN IN NOV.

Butter production up, production of American cheese down during November USDA reported last week that U.S butter output totaled 68 million lbs during November, up 13 pct from a year earlier It was the 6th consecutive month that butter output has exceeded that of a corresponding month a year earlier and brought the 11-month total to 862 5 million lbs, up 2 pct from a year earlier

Meanwhile, production of American cheese, which had been running well ahead of year ago levels, totaled 114 9 million lbs for the month, down 7 pct from Nov 1973 This marked the first time in 15 months that output has been below a corresponding month a year earlier But, output for the first 11 months, at 1 7 billion lbs, is still 12 pct ahead of a year ago

BEEF OVERPRODUCTION ONLY BEGINNING

"We are still getting into beef oversupply rather than out of it," according to an article in the current (Jan 6) issue of USDA's Foreign Agriculture magazine

The article by Richard J Goodman associate administrator of USDA s Foreign Agriculture Service, notes that

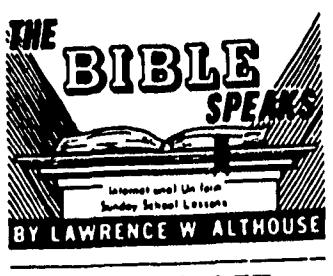
- World cattle numbers have been building for 6 years and the trend is continuing

- U S cattle inventory was up 6 mill on head - to 134 million - on Jan 1, despite a record 39 million head slaughter total Slaughter in 1975 could reach 43 mil , head, but cattle inventory will still go up to as high as 138 mil , head by Jan 1, 1976

AT LEAST PRICES WERE UP IN '74

Farmers may not look upon 1974 as their favorite year, but from the price standpoint, it topped 1973 - up until now the year of record high prices Prices Received by Farmers averaged 183 (pct of 1967) for the year, up 6½ pct from the year before, according to the Indexes of Market Prices in the current Ag Prices report

Most of that gain was in crops, up 30 pct from a year earlier and 212 on the index scale Feed grains averaged 40 pct higher, feed grains and hay, nearly 50 pct higher



THE SECRET

Lesson for January 12, 1975

Backgrouns Scripture: Mark 8:27-38; 10:32; 15:21-39.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 22:1-8.

The first half of the Gospel According to Mark is a mystery story. There is a great secret that pervades the first eight chapters. The secret concerns the true identity of Jesus of Nazareth.

For one thing, thus far only the "unclean spirits" have hinted at Jesus' true identity: "And whenever the unclean spirits beheld him, they fell downn before him and cried out, 'You are the Son of God'" (Mark 3:11).

Secondly, whenever he is recognized by them, Jesus orders the "unclean spirits" to keep his identity unknown: "And he strictly ordered them not to make him known" (Mark 3:12).

"Say nothing to anyone"

Thirdly, he frequently requests those whom he has healed to say nothing of his part in it: "And he strictly charged them that no one should know this (that he had healed the daughter of Jairus) (Mark 5:43).

Next, we find that people frequently wondered at who he was, as if they suspected that he was someone more than he appeared to be: "And they were filled with awe, and said one to another, 'Who then is this, that even wind and sea obey him?'" (Mark 4:41).

Mark, thus, seems to have been building up a sense of suspense so that the reader will be led to ask: Who really is this man?

It is in the region of Caesarea Philippi that light is finally shed on the mystery. "Who do men say that I am?" asks Jesus. The disciples had heard the various opinions expressed by the crowds and they repeated what they had heard: "John the Baptist," "Elijah," or "one of the prophets." It was understandable that the Nazarene might be identified with any of these by the crowds

What is your answer?

The disciples, however, had had opportunities the crowds had not shared. They had the chance to live with him, work with him, and observe him closely. Far more important was their own answers to this important question· "But who do you say that I am?" (8:29)

At last, Peter blurts out with the answer to the great secret: "You are the Christ!" (8:29). In all likelihood they had often considered this question, both to themselves and with each other, so that when Peter answered, he expressed what most, if not all, of them suspected.

Mark does not tell us that Jesus made any reply, but he leaves no doubt that Jesus confirmed Peter's confession of faith. Perhaps a nod, a slight smile, or just the light in his eyes told them that Peter was right.

So here it was at last . . . the answer they had sought so long! But the next words of Jesus must have brought down the veil of mystery once again: "And he charged them to tell no one about him" (8:30).

Why the great secret? The answer was to be found in what followed as Jesus began to speak about the suffering and death that lay ahead for him. He knew that people would have difficulty in understanding that kind of Christ! He also knew that his own followers would find it difficult to understand why the way of discipleship would be the way of the cross.

The world still has great difficulty with that secret.

To Be Alert For Chickweed

Alfalfa growers should be on the alert for rank growths of chickweed unless the areas have already been sprayed this fall or winter. We get reports of heavy growth on late summer seedings. Young plants are much easier to kill than mature plants; therefore, growers should not wait until spring to do something. The material to use will depend upon several factors such as time of seeding, and if any grasses are with the alfalfa. Growers are urged to contact their herbicide dealer or the current Agronomy Guide.

To Stop Feeding Parasites

Again we refer to the management practice of eliminating all parsites from livestock in order to have a chance to make any profit. Animals infested with either body lice or stomach worms will definitely not make their owners effecient gains or milk production. In this rea with high livestock population, there are many chances for re-infestation. Several chemical treatments are available that will clean out the parasites and give the animal a chance to become healthy and make efficient production. Sample of the feces sumbitted to the local veterinarian is the best way to learn the degree and kind of worm problem. Don't feed parasites this year. You will be the loser.

To Provide Exercise

Most animals prefer to be outside most of the time; if given them too closely by not providing a chance to get outside. Growing animals need exercise to develop proper born structure. In addition, animals with outside exercise will usually need less labor to care for them. Milking cows should get daily exercise in order to show heat periods and to keep them stronger on their feet and legs. Cattle on feed for fattening purposes will usually be more efficient users of feed if given the chance to go outside. Freedom and livestock comfort is needed for many types of livestock.

To Manage The Sheep Flock

Lambing time is approaching for many sheep growers and this is one of the very important times of the year. The ewe flock should be exercised daily and in some cases can be fed hay on frozen ground, on the snow, or from a rack in the far end of the exercise lot in order to force them to move around. Ewes that have had daily exercise will usually throw stronger lambs than those confined. Good legume hay in liberal amounts is strongly advised for all breeding ewes. The amount of grain should be limited according to the flesh of the ewes. Special care just before and during lambing time will increase the returns from the sheep flock.

Parlett Captures Swine Awards

James Parlett, a York County farmer, won two top awards during the breeding swine competition held Monday at the State Farm Show.

In the Chester White contest, Parlett's senior spring gilt placed first in the class of 16 animals. In the junior gilt competition, it was also an animal consigned by Parlett that topped the class. And although the competition was keen for the chamionship Chester White female, Vern Hazelett, the swine judge, chose Parlett's animal as representing the most perfect in the ring.

Parlett wasn't finished for the day, however, as he had also entered animals in the Poland China competition.

Once again an animal by Parlett captured first place in the senior spring gilt competition but a sleek black Poland owned by William H. Sweigard edged out Parlett's chance for another victory in the Junior spring gilt contest.

Parlett's senior spring entry however, went on to claim the Reserve Grand Champion honors in the Poland China Class, making the York Countain one of a very few dual winners of the day.

Parlett, who lives on a 135 acre farm near Airville, has been a Farm Show exhibitor for a number of years.

"I started coming to the Farm Show as an exhibitor when I was about nine years old," he commented.

"Except for a few years that I missed, I have been exhibiting ever since."

Parlett, who calls his farm "Twin Maples" rasies Chester White and Poland China breeding stock along with corn and small grains.

Along with those enterprises, he keeps between 200 and 300 head of pigs some of which are market animals and has a herd of 40 steers.

Area Breeders Competing

The remaining swine championships were captured by the animals of Rene Thomas, Snyder County - Yorkshire; Clayton Winebark, Indiana County - Berkshire; W. H. Sweigard, Dauphin County - Duroc; Richard Sholley, Lebanon County - Spotted; Reno Thomas, Snyder County - Hampshire. and George Cullin, Annville, Lebanon - Landrace.

Other area swine breeders competing in Monday's show included Arlie Cornbower, New Freedom, York; Russel Cornbower, New Freedom, York; Dennis Grumbine, Myerstown, Lebanon; Rodger Bankert, Hanover, York; Boyd Bros., Brogue, York; Shawn Hernley, Lebanon; Ed Hilderbrand, Dillsburg, York; Junior S. Hower, Catawissa, Columbia; Lawrence and Leon Arnold, Lebanon; Dutch Valley Farms, Lancaster; Harold Mummert, Seven Valleys, York; Rick Pfautz, Stevens, Lancaster; W. F. Ruoss, Ephrata, Lancaster; Christian Seaman, Grantville, Lebanon; Preston Bankert, Red Lion, York; Terry Bennecoff, Kutztown, Berks; Charles and Jay Bomgardner, Annville, Lebanon; and Ronald Stein, York, York; Jay Blatt, Annville, Lebanon; Glenair Farms, Elizabethtown, Lancaster; Kenneth Greenly, Elizabethtown, Lancaster; Irvin Saylor, Elizabethtown, Lancaster; Thomas Shuey, Annville, Lebanon; J. E. Lanius and Son, York, York; Roland W. Piper, Benton, Columbia; Elwood Houser, Lebanon, Lebanon; Clay Taylor, Windsor, York; Dale and Clyde Werner, Hanover, York; Willow Glen Farm, Strasburg, Lancaster.

Scenes From 1975

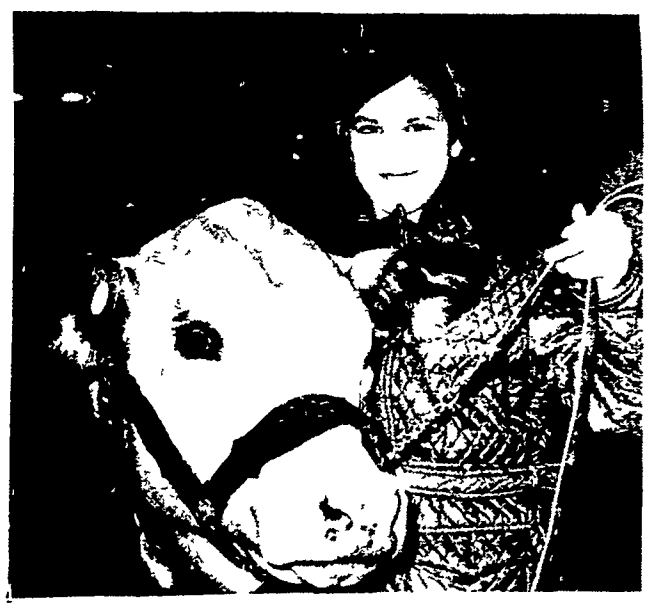
Governor Milton Shapp took the traditional draught of Pennsylvania milk during opening ceremonies on Sunday at the 59th Farm Show. Lieutenant Governor Kline drank his fill, too.

Linda Kauffman, Elizabethtown RD1, brought home the junior champion ribbon for Holstein competition from the Farm Show.

Galen Crouse, Ephrata RD1, Lancaster County, was one of many area dairymen who competed at the 59th Pennsylvania Farm Show.



Kim Weaver, a junior high student from Quarryville, made sure her 4-H steer got lots of care and attention at the Farm Show.

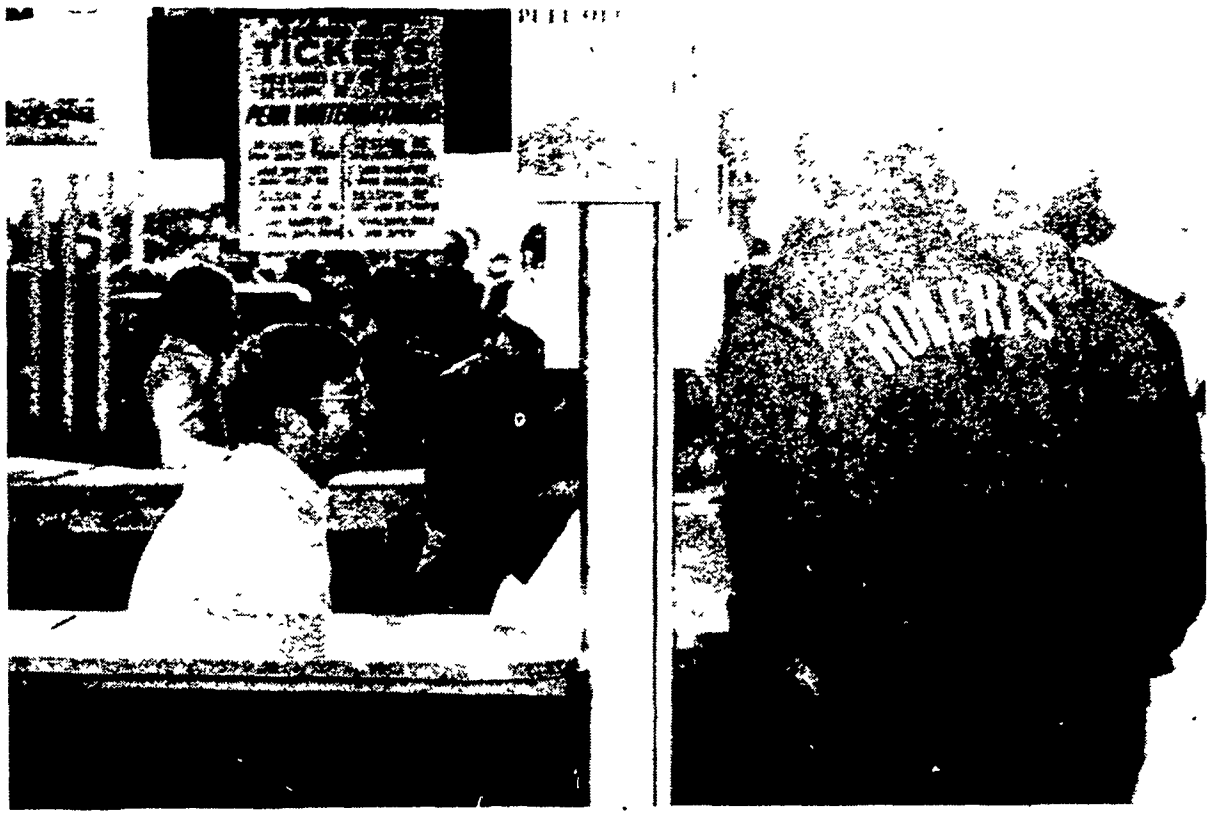
Not a newcomer to the Farm Show, J. E. Lanius (front), York RD3, exhibits his Poland gilt during the breeding swine competition. Other exhibitors include Roland Piper, Benton, RD3, (Middle) and Ed Brummer (back) Port Royal.



Les Houck, Kinzers, was one of several local people who manned a Farm Show booth selling tickets to the Pennsylvania Winternational Tractor Pull.

Debbie Miller, the Linglestown, Dauphin County, lass who's currently serving as Pennsylvania Dairy Princess, was an active participant in this year's Holstein competition at the Farm Show. One of her father's cows went on to win the champion Holstein prize.

The Kennard Henley Jr. Family

Shows Get Top Priority

Ayrshire showmanship is serious business to the Henley family of Cochranville, Chester County. Kennard Henley III, in fact, was not in the best of moods when we first saw him Monday morning in the Farm Show cow barn just after the end of Ayrshire judging. His thirteen-year-old face wore that clench-jawed, snapping-eyed look that is the unmistakable hallmark of thwarted ambition.

"He doesn't like to lose," we were told by young Kennard's father, Kennard Henley, Jr. "He really wanted the grand championship." Henley cows did win both grand and reserve grand junior ribbons, but the overall grand and reserve prizes went to William Ocker, a Cumberland County dairyman from Shippensburg.

We asked Henley how he feels in the showring. "It's just the same as playing a football game," he said. "I always go out with a positive attitude. I always want to come back with a grand championship."

Young Henley's competitive spirit is a quality he comes by naturally. Kennard Jr. has been an Ayrshire breeder and showman since 1949, when he had an Ayrshire FFA project. From that beginning, he built a topflight Ayrshire herd that performed well both in the showring and the weighing jar. It was a good operation, with 200 animals and 150 acres of good Chester County cropland. But the lure of the showring eventually won out over the assurance of a regular milk check.

In 1970, Henley Jr. sold his farm and most of his animals. He bought 21 acres of pastureland and a few show animals, and now has a herd that totals 45 animals, 18 of them milking.

"Our operation is kind of unique," Henley said at the farm Show. "I enjoy showing. We all enjoy showing. And you can't spend a lot of time on the road and still do a good job with a dairy farm.

"We sell some milk. We sell all the manure from our cows to a fertilizer company. I drive school bus and we make money showing. It's been working out pretty well."

Henley takes his prize Ayrshires to major shows throughout the East. "Anywhere East of the Mississippi," he said. "We've been to Ohio, New York, Florida. At the end of this month, I'm going to West Palm Beach, Florida, for a show, then I'll stay there for a show in Tampa three weeks later."

How does he fare at all these shows? "Last year, 1974, we were in 19 shows. Out of a possible 29 grand championships, we took 25. I'm pretty well pleased with that. This year we'll probably be in 21 shows."

Even though they might be some of the most well-traveled Ayrshires in the history of cowdom, the Henley DHIR herd average last year stood at 12,000 pounds of milk and 480 pounds of fat. As his father recited the production figures, Kennard III was quick to point out, "We could boost that by 2000 or 3000 pounds a year if the cows weren't on the road so much."

His work with Ayrshires and his enthusiastic support of the breed have earned Kennard Jr. the respect of his fellow breeders, and he is currently serving his second term as president of the Pennsylvania Ayrshire Breeders Association. Sharon, his 16-year-old daughter, is president of the state's Junior Ayrshire Club. The other Henley, nine-year-old Bill, is carrying on a Henley tradition by already showing Ayrshires. And he likes to win, too.

Grube Wins Jr. Market Hog Show

Out of five weight classes in junior market hog competition on Thursday at the Farm Show, Lancaster County youths captured four first place titles and the overall grand championship. The reserve grand prize eluded the local hog men though, going to Donna Lazarus of Lehigh County, who took the reserve ribbon with her first place entry in the 214-222-lb. category.

Area youths who placed in the top five in hog competition were, by classes:

190-198-pounds

1 - Stuart Heisey, Lancaster County, Elizabethtown RD1; Elton Muth, Berks, Alburtis RD1; 3 - Melvin Houck, Berks, Elverson RD2; 4 - Steve Wilson, York, New Freedom RD2.

200-208-pounds

1 Bruce Sipling, Lancaster, Marietta RD1; 3 - Lloyd Hoover, Lancaster, Leola.

210-212-pounds

1 - Lloyd Hoover.

214-222-pounds

1 - Donna Lazarus; 2 - Bonnie Arnold, Lebanon; 3 - Richard Strauss, Lancaster, Ephrata RD1.

224-240-pounds

1 - Mike Grube; 2 - Donna Lazarus; 3 - Richard Strauss.

FFA Honors

puts Jeffrey in the running for additional honors later this year. He will represent Pennsylvania in September in competition for the title of Star Farmer of the North Atlantic Region against similar winners from the 12 Northeastern States.

James Felpel is 18 years old and a senior at Ephrata High School. When Jim was in ninth grade he built a small barn to house steers and hogs that he carries as projects in addition to his work experience program to learn agriculture construction. Jim has helped in his father's construction business, constructing milking parlors, feedlot systems, pole barns, steel grain bin and other farm structures. Jim operates a backhoe, lays block, welds and carpentry work.

Jim excelled in the area of mechanics and he helps maintain all the equipment used in his father's construction business. In addition to this phase of the program Jim has been active in FFA. He has served as chaplain and treasurer of his local chapter, was on the State Small Gas Engine team, which placed 3rd at Springfield, Massachusetts, and a member of the State FFA Meat Judging team at the National Convention in Kansas City. He won the Area Jaycee Steer, placed 6th in the Lincoln Arc Welding Contest and many other activities. In addition to all of this activity, he has been an honor student all four years at Ephrata High School.

The Star Agribusiness Award puts James in running for additional honors later this year. He will represent Pennsylvania in September in competition for the title of Star Agribusinessman of the North Atlantic Region against similar winners from the 12 northeastern states.

NEW INTERNATIONAL 990 MOWER CONDITIONER

Greater capacity... Operates with less power... Requires less adjustment than any other mower conditioner

Operate in heavy hay or sudax a gear faster. Full-width conditioning rolls eliminate dead spots that waste power. And you'll find there's no power loss due to side draft on hillsides or on the level.

You get increased capacity because larger diameter 44-inch reel is less affected by changing crop conditions. And, the unique position of the reel bats holds the crop flat so it feeds through the conditioning rolls, without hesitation. What's more, controlled platform float and self-compensating roll pressure lets you move from field to field, crop to crop and rarely ever readjust the 990.

President Christian Miller holds the new charter for the Hans Herr FFA Chapter which he received in Harrisburg on Wednesday during the annual Pennsylvania FFA Convention. Miller is the president of the new chapter. Looking on are Charles J. Petterson, left, and James Kerr, chapter advisors.

Hans Herr FFA Receives Charter

The Hans Herr Future Farmers of America chapter received its official charter yesterday afternoon at the 46th convention of the Pennsylvania FFA Association at the Forum.

The chapter is comprised of students in the new horticulture and floriculture programs which started this Fall at the Lancaster County Vo-Tech School at Willow Street.

The Hans Herr Chapter is the 12th FFA chapter organized in Lancaster County. Christian Miller, a senior who also attends Penn Manor High School, is president of the new chapter which has 54 charter members.

Chapter advisers are Charles J. Patterson, floriculture instructor at Willow Street, and James Kerr, horticulture instructor at Willow Street and Brownstown Vo-Tech.

To gain official recognition, the students had to develop a constitution and by-laws and submit a program of work and activities to the state association. The charter was approved at the executive meeting in mid-November.

The charter members have already been active in FFA work. Many of the new members worked cooperatively with members from Brownstown and Mount Joy chapters setting up a horticulture exhibit at the State Farm Show for the Department of Education.

The new chapter brings the county FFA membership to 985. The last chapters receiving charters in Lancaster County were the Brownstown and Mount Joy chapters in 1970. Previously, the most recently chartered chapter was the Garden Spot High School's Grassland Chapter in about 1957.

in state competition in 1965 and first in 1966 and 1970. Smith is recognized as an outstanding dairy cattle judge in a number of states.

The county agent also has assisted in developing numerous successful dairy events including the Southeast District 4-H Dairy Show and Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show.

In 1968 Smith received a Distinguished Service Award from the National Association of County Agricultural Agents for his service to Pennsylvania's agriculture.

Scott also received a plaque and a check for $100. He recently completed 42 years of service as a milk tester in York County. He tests 29 herds, nine of which are on the Alternate AM-PM Program.

Scott previously received nine Awards of Merit and the Central District Plaque Award for excellence in his work. He also assists county dairymen with calf registration, dehorning techniques, and management problems.

The Superior Supervisor Award each year recognizes the accomplishments of DHIA supervisors who test the 192,000 cows enrolled in the statewide program.

Huge Crowds

cepted by Secretary of Agriculture Jim McHale. McHale, a veteran dairy farmer, has taken on all comers during the past four years and has never lost, although he has been thwarted in attempts to go one-on-one with U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz. Ms. Altemus is the champion milker of the Johnstown Area Chamber of Commerce and after two minutes of furious milking, she battled Secretary McHale to a draw.

On Thursday, the Farm Show Building was jammed again, as people came by the busloads for the junior judging events for hogs, sheep and steers. Unofficial counts at Thursday's close seemed to point toward a possible new attendance record for the annual event which is the biggest agricultural exhibit in the Northeast.

Macauley Lamb Takes Both Carcass Prizes

A Delaware County Suffolk lamb placed first in both on-foot judging and in on-rail competition in the carcass lamb show at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. The double winner was William Macauley, Newtown Square.

In the on-foot judging, held Sunday, the reserve champion award went to Henry Showalter, Akron. In the on-rail portion of the contest, Showalter's entry slipped to eighth place, while Christian Herr's light-weight lamb captured the reserve title. It had been fourth in on-foot judging. Christian is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Herr, Narvon RD2.

Also in the lightweight competition, Christian had the second place on-rail lamb, moving up from eight in the on-foot event. Elizabeth Herr's lamb moved from third on foot down to fourth on the rail. Sarah Brubaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brubaker, 2418 Harrisburg Pike, moved from ninth on foot to seventh on the rail.

In the heavyweight division, Barbara and Elizabeth Herr's lambs remained at their same on-foot placing finishing fourth and sixth respectively.

Margaret Herr's lamb moved from ninth on foot to seventh on the rail while Barbara's lamb jumped from 10th on foot to fifth on the rail.

Window Exhibit Winners

Several area high school Homemaking and FFA clubs participated in the Window Display competition held at the Farm Show.

The Homemaking Club of Garden Spot High School, New Holland, received second place honors and a cash award of $65 for their exhibit entitled "How Does Your Garden Grow?"

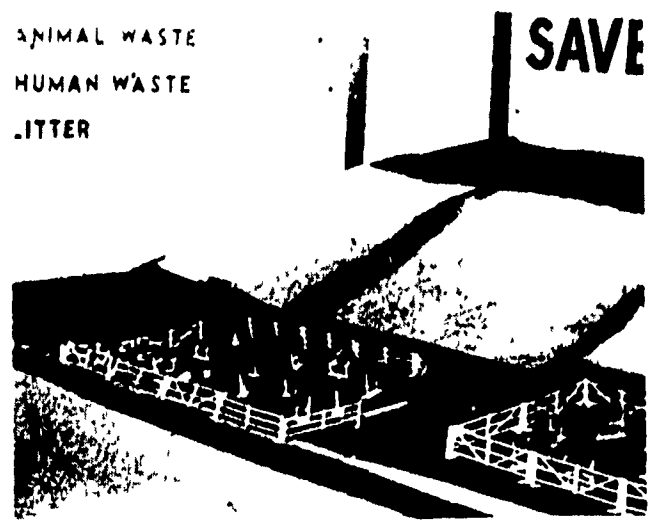
Red Lion Senior High School of York County received fourth place honors and an award of $50 for their exhibit on "Ways to Stretch Your Food Dollar Value." The display included suggestions on buying, pricing and storing food.

Judges for the homemaking exhibits included: Miss Frances Hoffman, Consumer Counselor, Harrisburg Division of PPL; Mrs. Betty Witmer, Home Economist, Camp Hill; and Mrs. Patricia Kooser, Department of Home Economics Education, Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

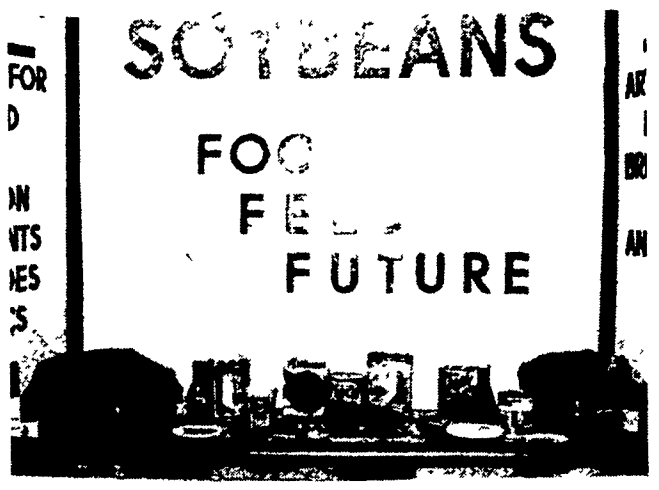
In the FFA exhibit competition, Northern Lebanon High School placed third with an exhibit, "2000,000,000.00 Worth of Damage From Fire Each Year." The display showed how improper use of electrical equipment may cause costly fires.

Twin Valley High School, Berks County, placed fifth in the contest with a display entitled "Soybeans – Food, Feed, Future." The exhibit displayed soybeans and some of the food and feed uses now and suggestions for the future.

Other area schools participating included: Kutztown Area High School with "S.O.S. - Save Our Streams" an exhibit depicting the use of conservation to preserve clean streams. Conrad Weiser High School of Berks County presented the "Energized Farm" exhibit representing farm mechanication.



Models of a farm and conservation practices were incorporated in the FFA booth exhibit of the Kutztown Area High School of Berks County.



A look at the products utilizing soybeans and their uses were displayed in the Twin Valley FFA's booth exhibit.

Small Grain Champs

Lehigh County exhibitors captured three championships in small grain judging competition at the 59th Farm Show.

David Kershner, of RD2, New Tripoli, captured the championship in the oats division; Wayne Bruch, of RD1, Zionsville, exhibited the champion barley sample; and Clark Mantz, of New Tripoli, captured the Japanese buckwheat class with his sample.

A Schreiber, of Jersey Shore, Clinton County, showed the champion wheat sample; James Weeter, of RD2, Knox, Clarion County, won the soybean division; Bruce Mattis, of RD1, Halifax, Dauphin County, won a championship with his Pennquad buckwheat sample.

Jesse Balmer, of RD4, Lititz, Lancaster County, won a championship in the rye division.

Maynard Hess, Stewartstown R2, York County, took first place in two categories of oats competition, and had the top entries in the red clover and timothy seed contests.

Allen Ackley, Lititz R1, Lancaster County, had the top entry in Pennrad winter wheat competition.

York County 4-H Council Hears Reports

Committee reports headed off the recent York County 4-H Council.

The Advisory Committee reported on a 1975 preview and new projects. The Attendence Committee reported on various ways to get more clubs to council meetings, including a year end trophy. The Exhibit Committee has directed clubs to put up exhibits in different communities.

Both the Dec. 14 Junior Fun Night and the Dec. 21 Christmas Caroling at nursing homes were well attended and very successful.

Teen Leader Lock-In will be held Feb. 28 to March 1. York County is inviting 4-Her's from Adams, Dauphin, Franklin and Cumberland Counties.

Four 4-Her's are representing York County at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. Karen Raubenstine and Joanne Zumbrum gave their demonstrations on Tuesday, and Jeff Roth and Karen Hemminger on Wednesday.

The program "1974 in Review" consisted of 4-H'ers talking on different 4-H county, state and regional events.

Next meeting will be Feb 5 at the 4-H center, preceded by an officer training meeting. All York County officers are invited.

Fred Hutschenreuter will call at a square dance following the meeting.

Protect Baby Pigs

Cold, drafty, wet farrowing pens cause troubles with baby pigs. This is why about one-third of all pigs born never reach market. The high death rate among baby pigs can often be reduced by good management, says Lester A. Burdette, Extension animal scientist at The Pennsylvania State University.

California Avocado Salsa Omelet

Want to know the secrets for making a perfect omelet? Use eggs that are at room temperature Beat them with a fork until fluffy Add one tablespoon of milk or cream per egg Season with salt and pepper Use one teaspoon of butter for each egg and melt over low heat in skillet until it sizzles Pour omelet mixture into skillet. Cook slowly . keeping heat low. As the underpart becomes set, start lifting the omelet ever so slightly with a spatula so that the uncooked part will flow underneath. Continue cooking till golden done Just before folding, add the filling you desire and then serve on a warm platter

One truly sumptious omelet is the California Avocado Salsa Omelet You'll be sure to get baskets full of compliments on this original recipe which is so simple to prepare

Omelet

6 eggs
6 tablespoons cream or milk
½ teaspoon salt
dash pepper
6 teaspoons butter
1 California Avocado peeled and diced

Prepare omelet as directed above then arrange avocado chunks across center of omelet Fold over sides and remove to warm platter

Sauce

4 slices bacon, chopped
1 small onion, diced
2 large tomatoes, diced
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon chili powder
2 California avocados

In medium skillet, cook bacon until almost done; pour off about ½ bacon grease Add onions, tomatoes, salt, pepper, and chili powder Simmer several minutes or until onion is soft. Remove from heat Peel avocados while simmering (reserve slices for garnish): mash remaining avocados and add to sauce Serve in pitcher or gravy boat so your guests can "pour it on". Four to five servings.

A few happy things about avocados: California avocados are available all year round They must be used when fully ripe (to test for ripeness, cradle an avocado gently in your hand. Ripe fruit will yield and be soft to the touch) Ripening can be hurried by putting fruit in brown paper bag or wrapping them in foil. Or, they can ripen right in your fruit bowl, adding that extra bit of decoration Avocados have 7 essential vitamins and 5 vital minerals. Only 132 calories in a half. And, avocados have no starch and minimal sugar.

Ephrata Youth Wins Award For Pa. Sales

Richard Groff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Groff, 1508 W. Main St., Ephrata, was recently awarded the $100 cash prize for agricultural sales and service proficiency for Pennsylvania.

A 1974 June graduate of Ephrata High School, Richard started his supervised work experience program through placement at Galen's Hardware Store in Ephrata.

Richard was chapter delegate to the National FFA Convention held in Kansas City, Mo. He was a gold emblem winner in the state land judging contest and a member of the winning county team.

Richard has won numerous awards on the local and state level with his record books. He is presently employed at Stevens Feed Mill, Stevens.

Kenneth Brubaker, Harrisburg Pike, Lancaster, proudly displays one of the many sheep awards he won this week at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

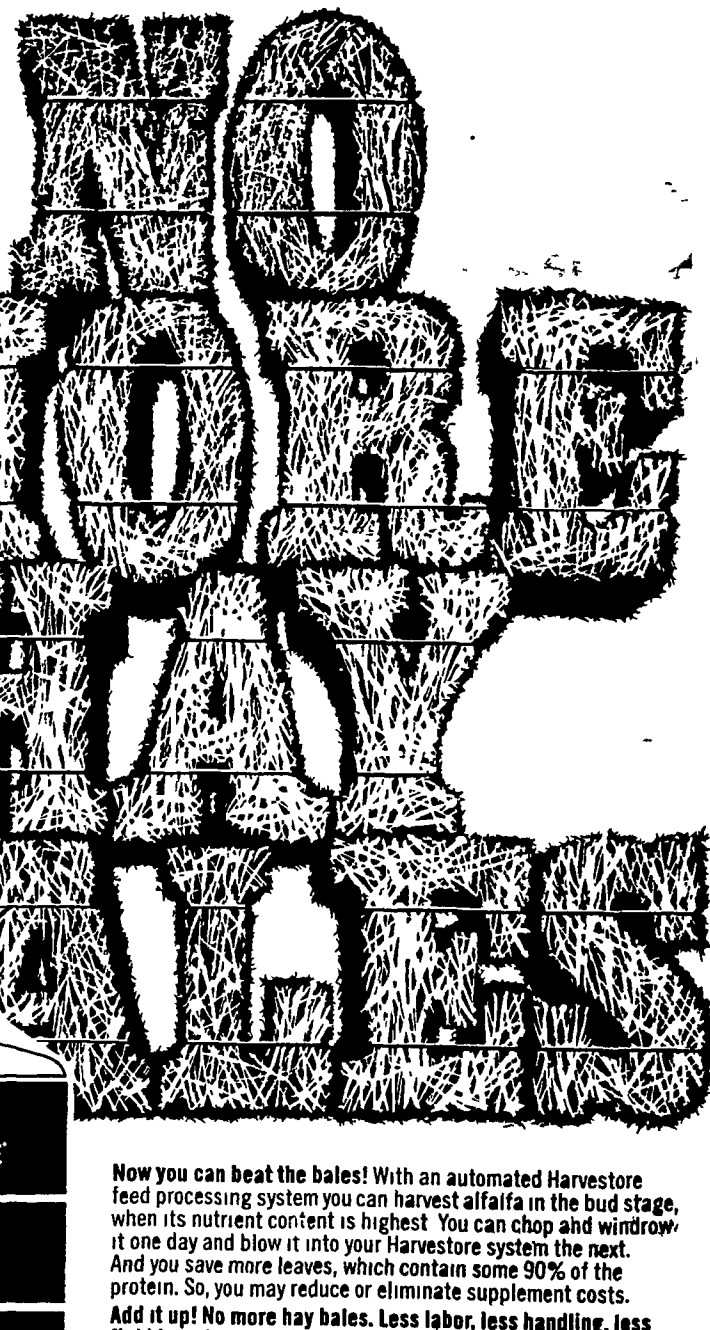
A Harvestore Automated Feeding System Means



Now you can beat the bales! With an automated Harvestore feed processing system you can harvest alfalfa in the bud stage, when its nutrient content is highest You can chop and windrow it one day and blow it into your Harvestore system the next. And you save more leaves, which contain some 90% of the protein. So, you may reduce or eliminate supplement costs.

Add it up! No more hay bales. Less labor, less handling, less field loss, less weather risks and more feed value. It's all yours with Harvestore haylage Why bale hay? Ask your dealer for details

Charles Town Turf Club Opens Season

The Charles Town Turf Club is set to open the 1975 racing season locally with a 67-night Winter meeting that opens January 24 and runs through Saturday, April 12th.

The same setup that was presented last year, consisting of 10 races daily getting underway at 7:15 and 13 race cards on Saturdays with a 6 p.m. post, will be offered again. Friday, March 28th (Good Friday) will be a dark day.

Cindy Reggi, the first female rider to claim a riding title here when she guided 43 winners home in the 1974 Fall meeting, and Peter Shelton, who led all riders for the 1974 season locally with 199 winners will head a list of more than 100 jockeys expected to see action during the meeting.

Following the Charles Town meeting the scene will shift to Shenandoah Downs for a 72-night Spring meet which runs through July 5th. Charles Town then picks up the action on July 7th and continues until September 27th, a 71-night meeting with Shenandoah Downs closing out the 1975 season with 60-days, September 29th through December 6th.

CHECKLIST for buying a gutter cleaner

If you're now looking for a gutter cleaner be sure it has all these important features

- One piece chain link with hook and eye for heavy duty 4 way flexibility
- Angled flites for added efficiency
- Wear shoe on each flite a full half inch thick for longer flite life
- Flites welded to links — fewer parts to corrode
- Easy link removal in 10 seconds — without tools
- Removable corner wheel assemblies to eliminate cement break out
- Flanged corner wheel to guide chain and protect gutter floor
- 4 Tooth drive sprocket reduces strain on reducer
- Sprocket and roller chain reducer for complete dependability
- Flite cleaner engineered to serve right and last long
- Automatic chain tightener works with full or part load
- Continuous duty motor eliminates motor overheating
- Telescoping slide legs for easy slide adjustment
- Chilled cast hold down shoe for longer shoe life
- Chain oiler for lubrication and corrosion resistance

The only gutter cleaner which gives you ALL these vital features and more is the PATZ Gutter Cleaner Designed by a farmer for farmers this unit will provide years of labor saving trouble free service

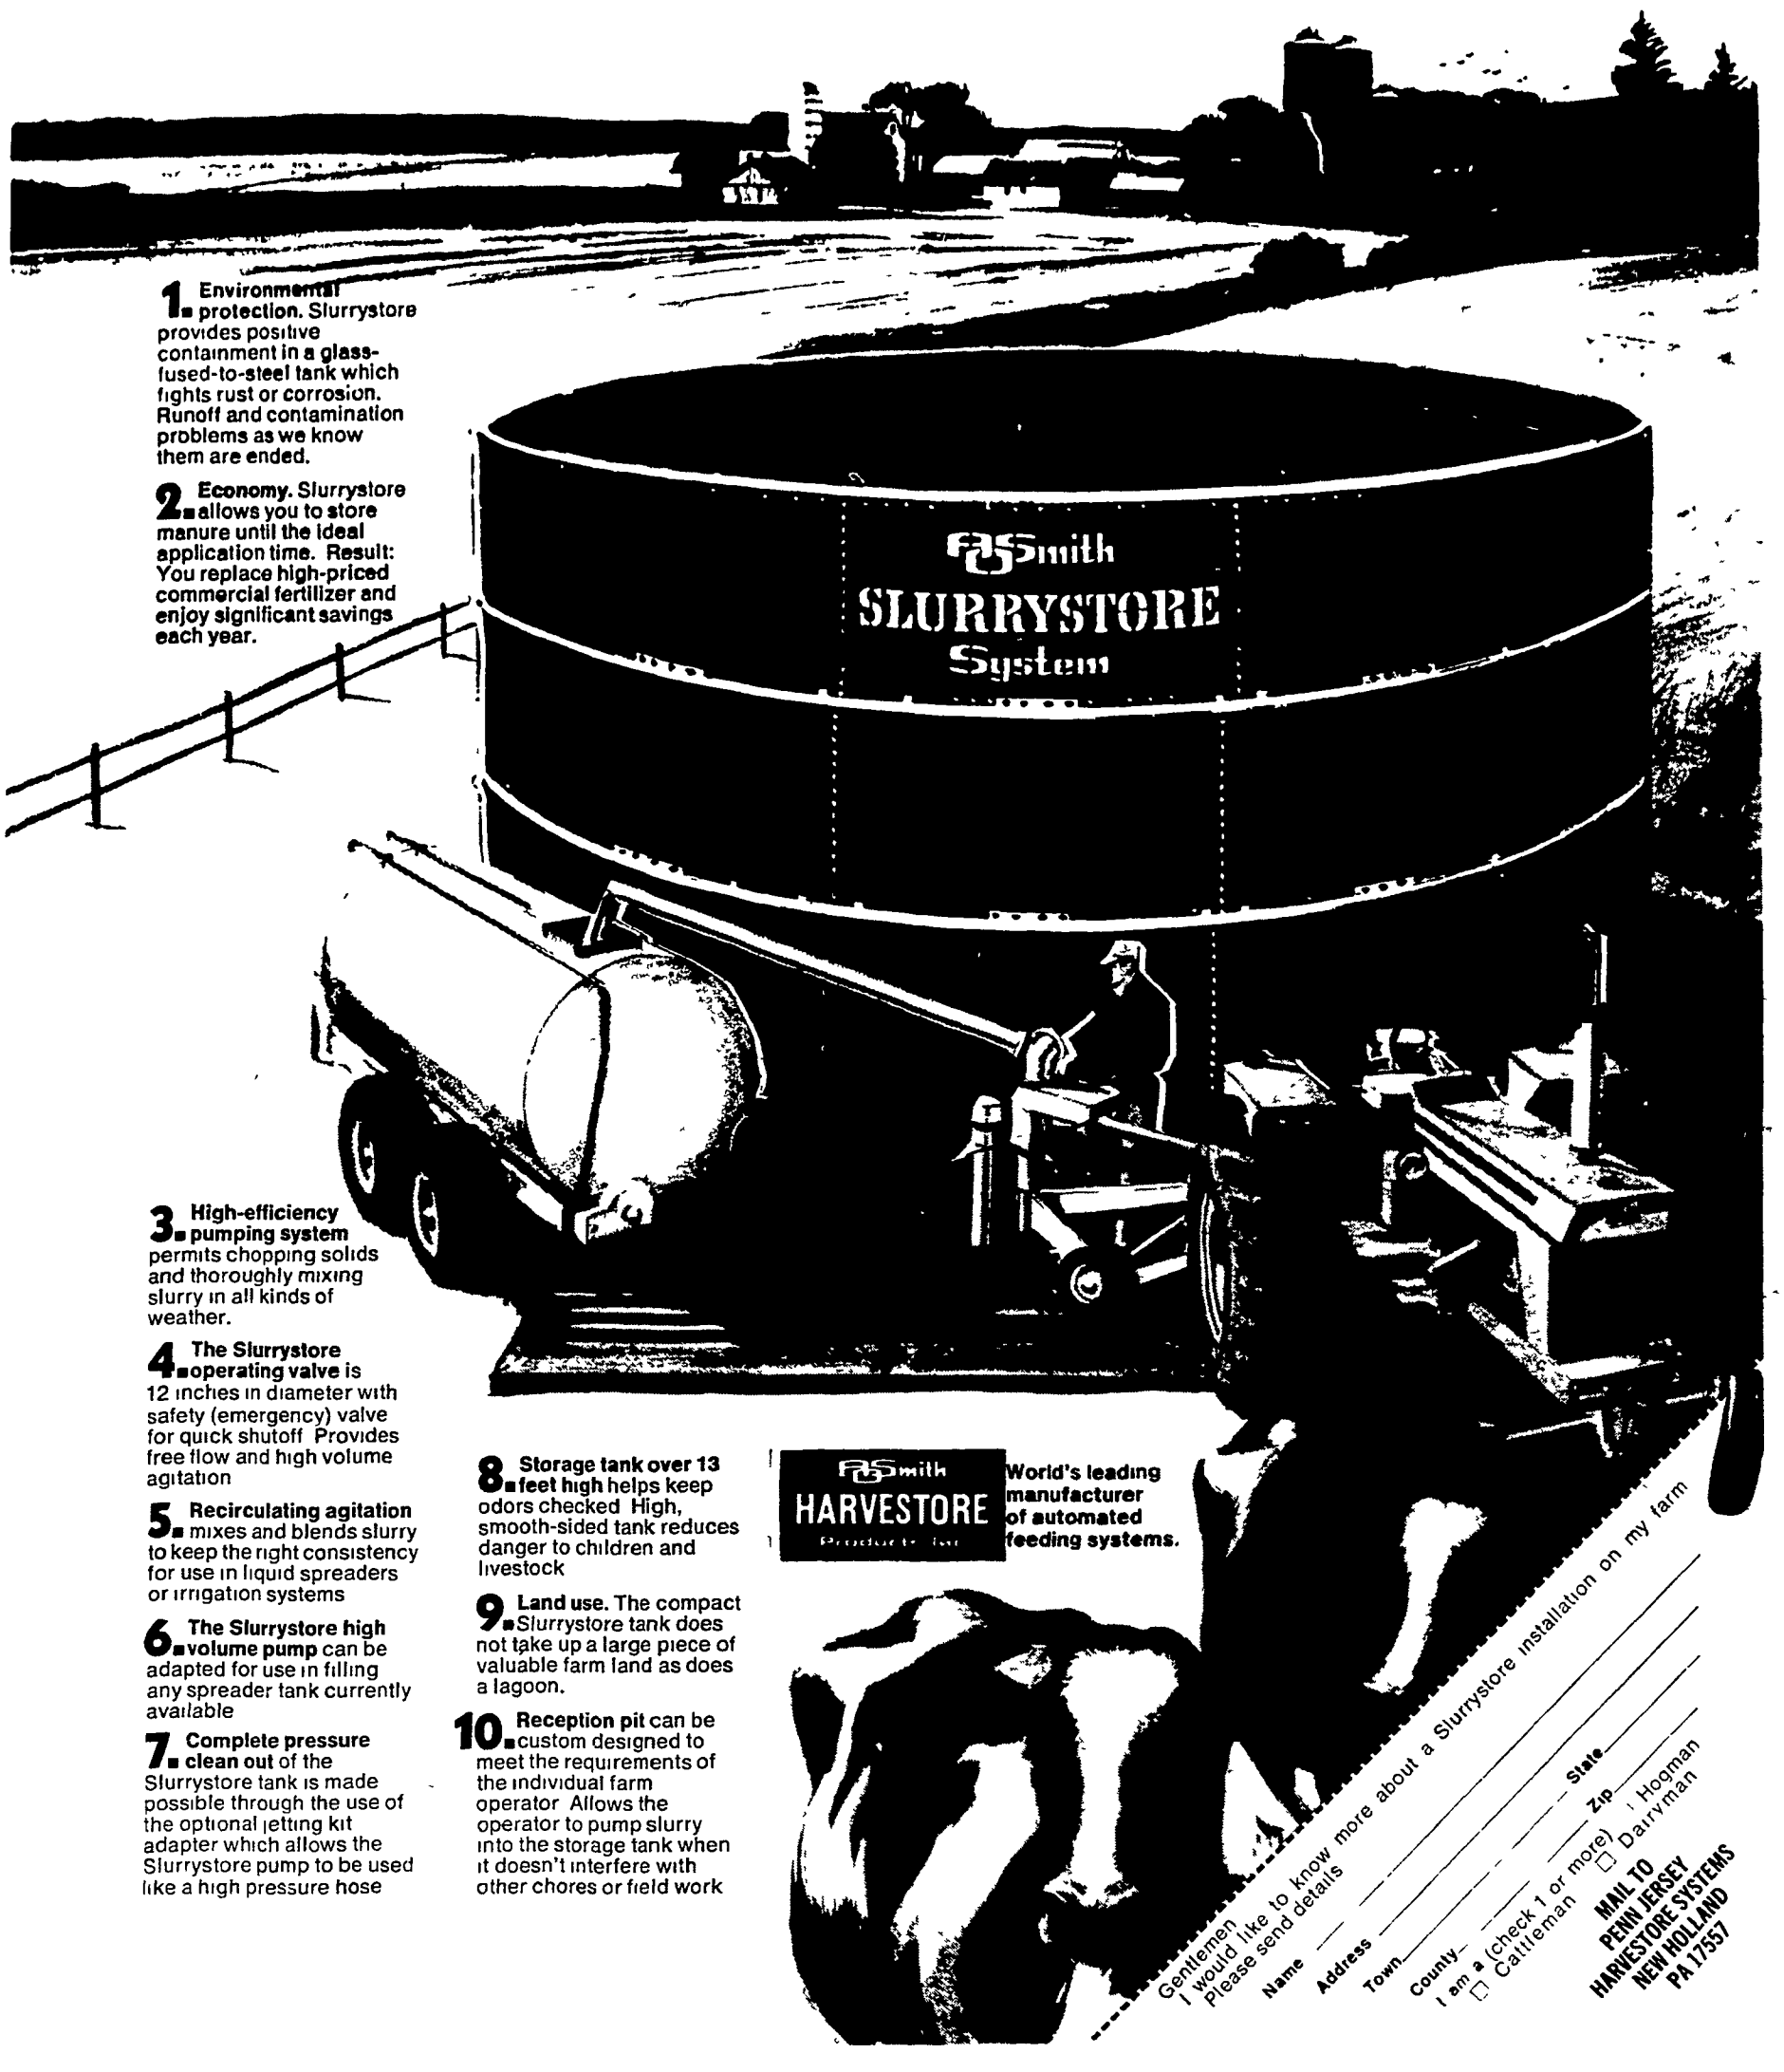
Ten reasons why new Slurrystore is the best way to manage manure.



1. Environmental protection. Slurrystore provides positive containment in a glass-fused-to-steel tank which fights rust or corrosion. Runoff and contamination problems as we know them are ended.

2. Economy. Slurrystore allows you to store manure until the ideal application time. Result: You replace high-priced commercial fertilizer and enjoy significant savings each year.

3. High-efficiency pumping system permits chopping solids and thoroughly mixing slurry in all kinds of weather.

4. The Slurrystore operating valve is 12 inches in diameter with safety (emergency) valve for quick shutoff Provides free flow and high volume agitation

5. Recirculating agitation mixes and blends slurry to keep the right consistency for use in liquid spreaders or irrigation systems

6. The Slurrystore high volume pump can be adapted for use in filling any spreader tank currently available

7. Complete pressure clean out of the Slurrystore tank is made possible through the use of the optional jetting kit adapter which allows the Slurrystore pump to be used like a high pressure hose

8. Storage tank over 13 feet high helps keep odors checked High, smooth-sided tank reduces danger to children and livestock

9. Land use. The compact Slurrystore tank does not take up a large piece of valuable farm land as does a lagoon.

10. Reception pit can be custom designed to meet the requirements of the individual farm operator Allows the operator to pump slurry into the storage tank when it doesn't interfere with other chores or field work

Farm Women Hold 56th Convention

by Melissa Piper

The first two days of Farm Show week proved to be both busy and interesting for the nearly 500 women who gathered in Harrisburg for the 56th Annual State Farm Women Convention.

The event, which included both business sessions and informal get togethers brought together farm women from all over the State.

Monday morning's program got underway at 10:00 a.m. in the Forum Education Building near the Capital in Harrisburg.

On hand for the opening event was James McHale the secretary of agriculture for the Commonwealth.

Special guests included farm women from other states who were interested in organizing farm women societies that have proved so successful in Pennsylvania.

Presiding at Monday's meeting was the state president, Mrs. S. Lee Richards from Fulton County. She was assisted by the first state vice-president, Mrs. Lois Erb of Harrisburg.

Included in the business of the opening session, were the reports by the County presidents on the work their societies had been involved in throughout the previous year.

Recognized as the outstanding Farm Women Society member of the year was Mrs. Mary Dennis of Adams County.

Following a noon adjournment, a Monday afternoon session was conducted also at the Forum Building.

The program included a fashion show entitled "Sew A Long Dress" which proved quite successful as many farm women displayed their stitching talents for most of the afternoon.

Keynote speaker for the afternoon session was Mrs. Marianne Fisher of Willow Grove followed by musical entertainment.

Presentation of the annual safety awards concluded the meeting, with Lancaster County's poster entry taking first place honors.

The poster depicted a girl who had placed a rocking chair on top of a pile of books to reach for an electrical outlet.

The poster proved so effective, many pleasing comments were given to the Lancaster County delegation.

Although a brewing snow storm settled on the area in late afternoon, the farm women treked to the Penn Harris Motor Inn for the annual banquet, on Monday evening.

Mrs. John Hess, the State's second vice president and resident of Lancaster County, along with Mrs. Carl Johnson, the president of the Lancaster County Farm Women Society served as hostesses for the Coffee-Tea Hour which proceeded the banquet.

Mistress of Ceremonies for the banquet was Mrs. Wilber Erb, the State's first vice-president, with Mrs. Richard Cline, the State Chaplin, giving the invocation.

Keynote speaker for the event was Mrs. Jane Alexander, Deputy Secretary for the Department of Agriculture. Mrs. Alexander brought greetings from the Department and stressed a continuation of the fine work the societies have been involved in.

Mrs. Clair Buterbaugh, Clymer RD2, reads portions of the minutes to a crowd of farm women during their convention activities.

Mrs. S. Lee Richards (left) president of the State Farm Women Society and her first vice-president Mrs. Wilber Erb, Harrisburg RD1, pose for a picture before beginning the Tuesday morning's business session.

The Red Lion Trumpet Troubadours of Red Lion, York County, provided the musical entertainment for the evening's event.

Although many of the women were late in getting home as the weather had made road conditions slippery, many cheerfully returned to Harrisburg on Tuesday morning for the closing business session of the Convention.

Annual reports and business matters were discussed by the delegates before electing new directors for the coming year.

Mrs. Richard Cline gave the morning devotions by reading Psalms 25 and speaking on the important women of the Bible.

Mrs. Cline explained that farm women are often faced with problems and disappointments, however, as the women of older times faced their problems with faith so also should the farm woman of today take her worries with an ever growing faith.

"We should keep the business like manners of Lydia, the responsibility of Deborah and the humbleness of Mary," Mrs. Cline added.

Most of the Tuesday session was devoted to discussing business matters and the election of officers and directors.

Mrs. S. Lee Richards gave the closing thoughts before adjourning the 56th annual convention.

Lancaster Represented

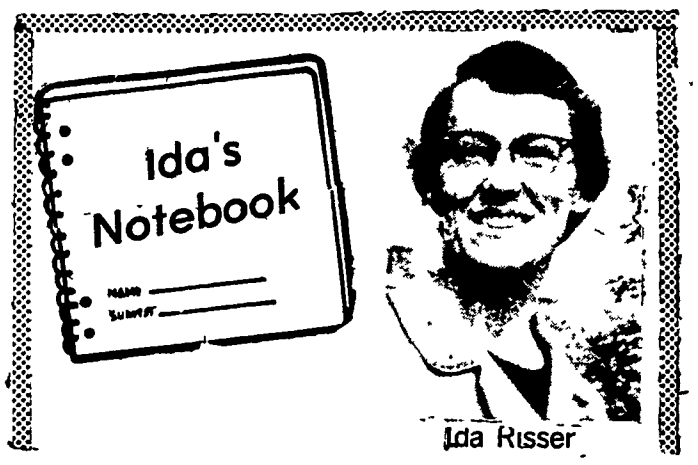
Nearly 100 members of Farm Women Societies in Lancaster County attended the convention and its activities. Mrs. Carl Johnson of Quarryville and Mrs. Sadie Greenleaf of New Oxford were special guests to the Governor's preview held on Sunday. The ladies reported that they had been given special passes by Mrs. Jane Alexander and had attended the affair as representatives of the Farm Women.

In her county president's report, Mrs. Carl Johnson relayed some of the activities that the farm women of Lancaster County had been involved in during the past year.

She reported that along with their monthly meetings, the ladies had participated in many workshops that included flower arranging and egg decorating. The societies have also taken part in raising funds for scholarships and service by helping in food stands at the County Fairs and by individual methods.

Lancaster County has had established Farm Women Societies since it was organized in January of 1917. There are presently 31 societies scattered throughout the county from Quarryville to Lititz. Although each group holds their own meetings and outings, many join together for special activities and parties. Along with their own service work, they join in giving money to a special county project that is adopted each year, and to the memorial scholarship fund, statewide scholarship that is given annually to young women interested in pursuing a career in home-economics.

Joyce Groff of Quarryville and Robin White of East Petersburg both in Lancaster County, were 1974 recipients of the Memorial Scholarship that is in honor of the Farm Women Society founder, Mrs. Frank Black



Ida Risser

Winter is a time when we concentrate on hearty dishes to warm the body and the soul. There is a bit more time to prepare different and complicated foods.

Over the years, our eating habits have changed somewhat and salads and thin soups have replaced more nourishing food. No longer do we have shoo-fly pie for breakfast and fried potatoes and pork every night for supper. Some folks don't work as hard physical labor, as their grandmothers did and therefore it is probably good that they do eat lighter.

The old hand-written notebook of recipes which my grandmother gave my mother contained notes for making pies, cinnamon flop cake and saffron potatoes plus rivels and dumplings.

We grew our own saffron plants with purplish flowers and dried the orange stigmas for use in filling and other dishes where a yellow color was desired. Herbs added a special something to our abundant supply of dried corn and beans.

xxx

We are tearing down a tobacco shed which was built over 100 years ago. Apparently many people are watching with various interests in mind. Someone asked for the lightening rods, another for some old boards and yet another for a chair board and hooks.

But there is another kind of person who watches and then takes what he wants--unobserved. One ornament on the roof was broken, the oiler was removed from an antique air compressor and Philip brought home an old drill with huge wooden wheels before they also "walked away" or should I say "rolled away."

Timely Reminders

Launder Ironing Board Cover

Cotton ironing board covers are popular. When treated with silicon or a non-stick surface they become smoother and more scorch- and water-resistant. Certain synthetic fabrics have been specially developed to withstand temperatures up to 600 degrees F. But no matter what type of ironing board cover you buy, Mrs. Ruth Ann Wilson, Extension clothing and textiles specialist at The Pennsylvania State University, reminds you to keep it clean. Some may be wiped clean, others may be machine-laundered, so check the manufacturer's instructions. It doesn't make sense to iron clean clothes on a soiled surface.

After School Snacks

If your children are tired of the same old snacks after school, they'll enjoy cubes of cheese speared with wooden picks, ready and waiting in the refrigerator. Extension specialists at The Pennsylvania State University suggest you team the cheese with apples, bananas, grapes, pickles or olives for variety.

Fish

A good rule to remember The smaller the fish, the hotter the grill should be. Also, grease the grill prior to cooking. If that fish breaks or sticks to the grill when you turn or take it up—the grill wasn't hot enough.

Junior Cooking Edition

Home on the Range

The recipes still keep coming in from our Junior Cooks This week we are featuring some recipes for desserts that range from Chocolate Pinwheels to doughnuts.

Doughnuts

1 quart scalded milk
2 cups mashed potatoes
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
½ cup warm water
3 packages yeast
4 cups flour

Put yeast into lukewarm water then scald milk and add potatoes, sugar, shortening to milk. When lukewarm add yeast and flour and let rise for 30 minutes.

Then Add.

2 beaten eggs
1 teaspoon salt
4 pounds flour

Let rise until double in size. For glaze Mix 1 box of confectioners sugar with one-third cup milk, 2 teaspoons butter a little mace and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Apricot Pudding

½ pound dried apricots
2 cups water
3 teaspoons tapioca
1 cup sugar
1 package orange gelatine
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup whipping cream

Cook apricots until tender. Add sugar Bring 4 cups water to the boiling point. Add tapioca and cook until clear. Add gelatine and salt and stir until gelatine is dissolved.

Remove from heat, add apricot pulp. Chill thoroughly and garnish with cream. Makes 6 servings.

xxx

Chocolate Pinwheels

¾ cup sifted all purpose flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening, soft
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tablespoon water
½ teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups oats uncooked
1 ounce unsweetened chocolate melted and cooled.

Sift together flour, soda into bowl. Add shortening, sugar egg water and vanilla. Beat until smooth about 2 minutes.

Divide dough into two parts. To one part add the melted chocolate. Roll chocolate dough between two sheets of waxed paper to form a rectangle about 15 x 6 inches. Place plain dough on top of chocolate removing all waxed paper. Roll up like jelly roll, wrap and chill. Cut into slices and bake at 350 degrees for 10-12 minutes. Makes 5 dozen.

Food Labeling For Shoppers

With new federal labeling laws, you can compare more than just the price of two brands of food. Grocery shelves are becoming stocked with newly-labeled cans which list serving sizes, specific nutrients, calories and other information.

According to Louise Hamilton, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at The Pennsylvania State University, this new information, made available in accordance with food and drug administration requirements, can result in more nutrition per food dollar. For example you can compare the cost-per-serving of a sugar-coated cereal, a plain, ready-to-eat cereal and a cooked cereal.

Nutritional information on labels is listed according to stated serving size. Protein, carbohydrate and fat are listed in grams—28 grams equal one ounce. Protein, vitamin A, vitamin C, thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, calcium, and iron are listed according to their percentage of the U.S. Recommended Dairy Allowance. By using the U.S. RDA as a guideline for good diet, you can choose foods that are good sources of nutrition.

The nutrients are always listed in the same order. Miss Hamilton says this makes it easier to compare different brands and foods in the same food groups. You could compare nutritive values in an ounce of cheese, a cup of milk and a serving of yogurt—all in the milk group.

Some new labels will help you follow special diets. Calories may be listed along with information for persons modifying their cholesterol, fat or sodium intake on the advice of a physican.

Learning to use the added information on food labels can help you make nutritious and economical buys, points out the Extension specialist.

Recipe Exchange. . .

Home on the Range

This week we received some interesting recipes that we are sure you'll enjoy. Mrs. Charles Long of Peach Bottom sent us two especially interesting recipes that sound rather tasty.

We also received a recipe from Mrs. Ivan Hoover and for a meat ball and potatoes dish. Mrs. Hoover answered our request for household tips by sending in the following:

A good remedy for cleaning hard water spots from a glass pitcher is to soak with vinegar for several hours. The pitcher will need no scouring after washing.

Exotic Lime Cheese Cake

Combine:
1 cup cocoanut
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons melted butter
Mix and press in spring form pan.
Bake at 350 for 12-15 minutes.

Soften 1 envelope unflavored gelatine in ¼ cup cold water. Combine 3 egg yolks, ¾ cups sugar and ¾ cup water in a saucepan. Stir over medium heat 5 minutes. Add gelatine and stir until dissolved. Gradually add 2-8 ounce packages of cream cheese softened. Mix until blended. Stir in ¼ cup lime juice, and 1 teaspoon grated lime rind with a few drops of green food coloring. Fold in 1 cup whipped cream and 3 stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour over cooled crust. Chill until firm.

Vegetable Chicken Pie

1 Stewing chicken cooked and boned

Partially cook together in a small amount of water, 2 white potatoes quartered, 2 sweet potatoes peeled and quartered, 1 cup fresh or frozen peas, 4 carrots diced, 4 stems of celery cut in 1 inch pieces and ½ teaspoon saffron. Season with salt and pepper.

Thicken chicken broth as you would for gravy. Pour cooked vegetables diced chicken and gravy in casserole and slightly mix. If you do not need all the gravy serve with pie. Cover casserole with crust.

Crust

2 cups flour
½ cup lard
½ teaspoon salt

Mix as for pie crust. Moisten with enough water to make crust and roll and cover casserole. Bake in moderate oven for 45 minutes. You can use left over roast chicken and gravy if you wish.

Meat Balls and Potatoes

8 medium potatoes quartered
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon tumeric spice or pinch of saffron
¾ cup water
Bring to a boil then add meatballs made of:
1½ lb. hamburger, 1½ teaspoon chopped onion, 1 teaspoon salt.

Boil together until done, remove meat and potatoes from broth and thicken for gravy.

Mrs. Ivan Hoover
Manheim

Applesauce Cake

2½ cups flour
2 cups sugar with unsweetened applesauce or 1½ with sweetened applesauce
¼ teaspoon baking powder
1½ teaspoon baking soda
1½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon allspice
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
Mix dry ingredients together. Add:
½ cup soft shortening
1¾ cup applesauce
¼ cup water
2 eggs

Beat well until all is combined into smooth batter. Add nuts or raisins if desired. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes.

Breakfast Cereal

5 cups quick oatmeal
1 cup brown sugar
½ to two-thirds cups white corn syrup
1 cup wheat germ
1 cup fine cocoanut
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons vanilla
½ teaspoon salt

Put all dry ingredients together in a bowl and mix. Sprinkle vanilla and syrup over mixture. Mix well. Pour into shallow pans and toast in oven at 150 degrees for 20-30 minutes. Store in a tight container. Serve with milk.

Country-Style Apple Pie

2 cups sliced, slightly sweetened cooked apples
¾ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup cream
pastry for one crust 9-inch pie

Topping

¼ cup flour
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Line a 9 inch pie pan with pastry making a high fluted edge and fill with sliced apples. Combine sugar, salt, cinnamon and flour and add cream and apples in pie pan. Combine flour, butter, brown sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle over top. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees) for 45 minutes. This pie is best served warm. Serve with ice cream or with gouda cheese if desired.

Corn Bread

1 cup cornmeal
1 cup flour
One-third cup melted lard
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 rounded teaspoon soda
sour milk or buttermilk to make a medium dough.

Put first 5 ingredients into bowl. Put soda into ½ cup milk and add to bowl. Add more milk. Beat until smooth. Pour into 9" square pan. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes.

Area Women Dominate Food Show

The Home Economics Food division at the Farm Show must have reminded many visitors of a large scale county fair, complete with rows of bright red tomatoes, freshly baked bread and sparkling glasses of jelly.

Many of the award winning entries belonged to four women from Lancaster County although almost every county of the State was represented.

Mrs. Roy Mull, Lititz, R4; Mrs. Henry Zimmerman, Lancaster; Mrs. James Long, Lititz R1, and Mrs. Janet Miller, Willow Street; exhibited a number of prize winning canned foods and baked goods reflecting their refined culinary skills.

Those ladies from the southeastern region of Pa. and the classes they exhibited in are listed below:

3 Jars of Food

First - Mrs. James B. Long, RD1, Lititz, Lancaster; 3rd - Mrs. Roy B. Mull, RD4, Lititz, Lancaster.

Shirk Gives Talk on Corn Hybrids

Twin Valley Young-Adult Farmers met on Dec. 16, 1974 in the vocational agriculture classroom of the Twin Valley High School. Eighteen members attended.

Glenn A. Shirk, Chester County Agricultural Agent, presented a program on corn hybrids.

The corn hybrid performance results from the Penn State Extension Plot near Honey Brook were announced and the 63 hybrids were compared in yield, standability, and resistance to disease.

Shirk explained how to use this new information in relation to past corn summaries when selecting ting hybrids. He also emphasized the importance of a good liming and fertilization program and gave some guidelines to follow when planning for next year's corn crop. Predictions for the 1975 corn season were discussed and some possible return - expense situations were analyzed.

The groups planning committee will hold the next educational meeting Tuesday, Jan. 21. The topic for the evening will be Farm Recordkeeping. Wives are encouraged to attend this meeting.

Farm Women Societies

Society 2

The Farm Women Society No. 2 members and their families enjoyed a covered dish supper for their Christmas Party. The event was held at the Mastersonville Fire Hall on December 14th at 6 p.m.

A brief business meeting was held with president Elsie Witmer presiding. Twenty-one plates of fruit were distributed during that week.

The group packed two boxes for groceries for two families in the area.

Grace Miller was installed as vice president for the next two years.

Santa Claus visited the group and handed out oranges and presents to everyone.

The next meeting will be held on January 11th at the home of Mrs. Paul Farrell, RD2, Manheim at 1:30 in the afternoon.

1975 - Women's Year

. . . Milton Shapp, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby proclaim the year 1975 as INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S YEAR in tribute to the major role women have played in the two hundred years of American history and the efforts they will continue to make toward the economic growth, political effectiveness, social progress and educational development of this Commonwealth. . . . I urge that both men and women of Pennsylvania join together to do all in their power with practical and constructive measures to make 1975 an outstanding year for the advancement of the status of women in Pennsylvania."

With these words of tribute, Governor Milton J. Shapp launched International Women's Year in Pennsylvania as it has been proclaimed nationally by the president and internationally by the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Launching day, appropriately named "Amelia Earhart Day," is January 11, the day on which that dauntless woman pioneered the first non-stop flight from Hawaii to the mainland.

Her courage, vision, perserverance and dedication to a non-conventional career symbolize many of the qualities associated with International Women's Year.

Expectations are high that 1975 will be a year in which women of all nations join together to examine and analyze their problems of the past and their mutual hopes for future progress. Some areas of greatest concern will certainly include: equality in law; economic rights; family responsibilities; decision making at all political levels and access to health care.

In Pennsylvania, individuals as well as organizations have IWY activities planned for the entire year. These range from the frivolous to the solemn, including parades and sporting events as well as an appraisal of women's current place in business and government.

The Pennsylvania Commission on the Status of Women has targeted several areas of prime concern to women in this International Women's Year. Chiefly these include: placement of women on Boards and Commissions within State government; review of the laws of the Commonwealth under Pennsylvania's Equal Rights Amendment, with revision and-or recission where necessary and, finally, exerting all possible effort towards passage of the national ERA.

Food Shopper: Peanuts

Virginia Department of Agriculture & Commerce

Snack time may be anytime. In today's fast paced society, often snack time is the common food denominator of the day. The scheduled three planned meals of yester year is loosing ground to more frequent and smaller mini-meals.

Along these lines, the thoughts of proper food intake is still important. The question is how to get the required foods into the diet and still have light quick snack times. In other words, snack time should be nutrition time, too.

One answer to the nutritious snack dilemma lies in proper planning and in one of Virginia's finest agricultural food products. Consider, if you will, peanuts. Peanuts come in many forms and may be used in interesting ways.

Peanuts are, of course, a great "eat out of hand" food. They may also be incorporated and become the main ingredient in soups and salads. Or, dress up vegetable dishes with a sprinkling of crushed peanuts. One real fun idea is a dip which may be used as a quick snack food. Simply make a recipe of the dip; store in the refrigerator, if keeping for several days. Makes an interesting ingredient, too, in packed lunches. Simply spoon a quantity into a small covered container, include fresh apple slices which have been sliced into a little salt water or sprinkled with any citrus juice (lemon, orange, or grapefruit). Be sure to leave the peel on the apple for a little extra nutrition. Also, pack separately from the dip.

One good peanutty dip follows. It's called Creamy Peanut Dip for Apples, but this one may be used with other fruits, too.

Creamy Peanut Dip For Apples

One-third cup creamy peanut butter
2 tbsp. minced crisp bacon
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 tsp. prepared horseradish

Combine peanut butter and minced crisp bacon; beat in sour cream. Stir in horseradish. Makes about 1½ cups. Really enough to serve eight or more guests, if serving as a hors d' oeuvre.

Farm Women No.6 Of E-town

The January meeting of Farm Women Society 6 met at the Church of the Brethren in Elizabethtown with Sara Holsberg, Margaret Bowers, and Martha Eshleman as hostesses.

Mary Thome led devotions with thoughts and scripture for the New Year. Members answered roll call by telling of an experience in a snow storm. Letters were read thanking the society for fruit baskets and other gifts during the holidays.

Anna Geyer conducted the business meeting after which the program was presented by Mr. and Mrs. William Heisey.

Mr. Heisey showed slides of the candle making processes, displays at conventions, and ways in which candles have been used in home and church decoration The Heiseys displayed candles and Mary Thome won the door prize by almost guessing the exact weight of one of the candles shown on a slide. Each woman was given a souvenir candle

The February 1 meeting will be at the home of Mrs Milton Eberly

Bucks Countians Top Vegetable Competition

Lancaster Countians managed to latch onto half the celery awards at this year's Farm Show, and nearly half the awards in squash competition. But other than that, it was Bucks County nearly all the way. Bucks County growers had the best farmers display, best growers collection and best county exhibit in vegetable competition. They also dominated virtually every other category except for mushrooms, where the Chester Countians quite predictably won everything.

D. A. Brubaker and D. B. Brubaker, both of Ephrata R1, brought home prizes for their beets, cabbages, radishes, turnips, onions, pumpkins, salsify and squash. Amos and Fred Funk, Millersville R1 were the celery growers who gave the Bucks Countians a run for their money.

Other Lancaster County vegetable men who placed in the competition were Jay Long, Lititz R1, for onions, and Roy B. Mull, Lititz R4, for pumpkins and squash.

Maynard Hess, Stewartstown R2, York County, dominated the open classes in potato judging with first-place ribbons in four different varieties: Katahdin, Kennebec, Superior and Norland. His Kennebec display was the best of the open classes.

Glenn Frey, of Germansville, Lehigh County, won the grand championship of the potato classes. His winning entry was a Katahdin display that earlier was picked as the best of the 4-H entries.

Timothy Billig, of RD1, New Tripoli, Lehigh County, topped the vocational classes with an exhibit of Penn 71 variety potatoes.

Keep Packed Lunches Safe to Eat

Now that school is back in session after the holiday vacation, you're probably packing lunches. Here are some tips on how to pack foods to avoid food poisoning.

If you're using brown bags, it's a good idea to buy them specifically for lunches instead of using the bags you bring home with groceries.

A lunchbox is better than a paper bag because it's easy to keep clean. Also, lunch boxes, especially insulated ones, hold the cold much better than paper bags.

There are several ways to keep lunch food cold. Take along some ice. To make ice for a lunch bag, clean out a plastic margarine tub. Fill it with water, put the lid on and freeze it. When frozen, stick it in the lunch bag or box to keep the lunch cold.

You can also freeze some sandwiches and put them, still frozen, into the lunch. They will thaw out in time for lunch and also help keep the rest of the lunch cool until then.

Winter Squash is Rich in Vitamin A

Winter squash can be an easy and delicious way to add vitamin A value to home meals. Just one-half cup serving of cooked winter squash can provide from one-half to two-thirds of the recommended daily dietary allowance for vitamin A.

Choose from acorn, butternut, buttercup, delicious or Hubbard squash varieties. All dark-yellow squash provide similar amounts of vitamin A value.

To prepare mashed squash, steam or cook peeled squash which has been cut into pieces. (To make peeling less of a chore, cut the squash into pieces first, and then peel.) Place cut up squash in a small amount of boiling water, cover and cook until it is tender. Allow from 15 to 30 minutes, depending on the type of squash. Drain and mash squash. Season with salt and pepper, butter or margarine. Add a little brown sugar or honey to bring out the flavor of squash.

To prepare baked squash, cut unpeeled squash into halves or quarters. Place cut side up in a shallow pan and spread with softened butter or margarine. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in a moderate oven at 350 to 375 degrees F. for about an hour or until tender. Baking time will depend upon the type of squash and size of pieces. Serve baked squash in "shell" or remove squash from the rind and mash before serving.

Try this main dish of meat and cheese stuffed squash:

Brown three-fourths of a pound of pork-sausage meat or lean ground beef with one large chopped onion. Drain fat if necessary. Add salt and pepper to taste, one six-ounce can of tomato paste, one-fourth cup water if necessary and herbs to taste (garlic powder, oregano, basil). Remove from heat and stir on one-quarter pound of Cheddar, Swiss or American cheese, chopped. (about one cup).

Meanwhile, cut three medium acorn or butternut squash lengthwise into halves and remove seeds. Place cut side up in roasting pan or baking dish. Brush insides of squash with margarine or butter; sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Spoon meat-cheese mixture into centers of squash halves. Cover pan tightly with foil or lid and bake one hour at 350 degrees F. or until squash is tender. If you have leftover stuffing, bake it in the baking dish along with the stuffed squash. Serve stuffed squash with green beans, tossed salad, whole grain bread or muffins, and milk.

Farm Women Societies

Society 1

Amityville, Pa

Twenty-two members and their husbands had a very enjoyable evening at their annual Christmas party. The party started at 6:30 at the Village Diner in Douglassville, Pa. A delicious turkey and ham dinner was served. The group had the following as their guests: George Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Brown. Our President, Ruth Walters, gave the invocation and welcomed everyone to the party.

After the meal, Alton Brown showed a beautiful slide presentation of his travels through Europe. The members then had a short business meeting. Our county president installed the following officers: President, Agnes Noll; Vice President, Donna Haas; Treasurer, Catherine Yanos; Secretary, Pearl Levengood; Corresponding Secretary, Linda Levan.

After the meeting our secret pals were revealed and we got new ones for 1975. The members and their husbands got small gifts which the entertainment committee thought was most appropriate for their needs.

Our next meeting will be held at the home of Sarah Marsteller, Amityville, Pa. and we will make cancer pads.

Society 2

Santa Claus and "his" helper visited the Berks County Farm Women's Group 2 of Bethel in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Zimmerman, Bethel RD1, with 23 members attending.

Santa was Mrs. Daniel Harnish, Richland RD1, and Santa's helper was Mrs. Quentin Gettel, Rehrersburg, who presented the Christmas gifts and revealed the secret pals of the past year.

Mrs. Wilbur Hershey, Bethel RD1, president, conducted the meeting and arranged final plans for the five group members to attend the state convention of the Society of Farm Women at Harrisburg in January.

Mrs. Quentin Gettel read the minutes and Mrs. Clarence Klahr, Bethel RD1, gave the treasurer's report. The roll call was answered to the question "How Did You Spend Christmas Day?"

Mrs. Carl Seiverling reported that Christmas gifts given to the Hamburg Children's Home were appreciated.

Mrs. Daniel Harnish distributed new program books for the year 1975.

Mrs. Carl Kauffman Sr., Bethel, was accepted as a new member.

Discussion of fund raising projects was held with all members particiapting.

Mrs. Klahr, Mrs. Woodrow Webber, Mrs. Mark Weber, and Mrs. Hershey were presented gifts for their perfect attendance year for group meetings.

Songs were led by song leader Mrs. Clayton Schmehl, and Mrs. Eugene Stump was in charge of games. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Zimmerman. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. Eugene Stump, Bethel, on Jan. 28 and the program will be "Game Night."

Society 4

The December meeting of the Society of Farm Women, Berks County Group 4 was held in the home of Georgeanna Fullerton, 7 East Philadelphia Avenue, Boyertown, Pennsylvania.

This being the Christmas party the host read, "Ballad of Holly".

Fourteen members answered the roll call and the President, Mrs. Harold Good, presided over the meeting.

Jean Waldo volunteered to make cookies for the State Convention being held in January in Harrisburg.

The group delivers fruit, cookies, candy and other gifts to local shut-ins during the Christmas season.

The annual banquet was held December 5 at the Collegeville Inn. Ten members attended.

The county President, Mrs. Robert Yanos, installed the new officers for 1975 and 1976. They are President, Linda Taylor; Vice President, Mrs. Alfred Harrison; Secretary, Mrs. Lester Kulp; and Treasurer, Mrs. George Fullerton.

Linda Taylor presented the retiring President, Mrs. Good, with a gift.

The Rothenberger girls presented a play and ended it by giving gifts, candy and oranges to each one present. The girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rothenberger.

The following meeting was held Thursday, January 9 in the Earlville home of Edna Angstadt, rather than Tuesday the 7th, so the members could attend the state convention.

Society 8

The monthly meeting of the Society of Farm Women was held in the home of Helen Shirey, Bernville, R.D.1.

Before the meeting got under way our guest speaker Fay Strickler, Berks Co. Home Extension Economist, showed us slides and gave a discussion on Food tips, preparation and recipes including raisins.

After the program was over, our president, Laverne Balthaser, called the meeting to order, and our hostess read Psalm 100.

Fifteen members answered to roll call question, "Do you go home for the holidays?"

The annual Christmas Party was held on December 14, at Lincoln's Restaurant at 7 p.m. Gifts were exchanged.

Helen Shirey reported on the special events scheduled for the new year.

The group voted to donate $25 to the Bethel Ambulance Fund.

We also voted to buy four shares for the Strausstown Medical Clinic, which should be ready to open in April, 1975.

After the meeting our hostess served refreshments.

Society of Farm Women Executive Board
Gail Malsbury

The Berks County Society of Farm Women executive board met recently with its new president Ann Yanos presiding. The following committee chairmen were appointed: Helen Ebling, Berks Heim; Carol Zechman, Hamburg State School; Linda Taylor, Safety; Helen Ebling, County Scrapbook; Joanne Ebling and Arlene Hershey, Scrapbook contest.

The annual state convention was held in Harrisburg January 6 and 7. Joyce Deiseman, LaVerne Balthaser, Linda Taylor, and Dorothy Barrett served as ushers for various sessions. Berks County was responsible for the memorial service January 6. A committee comprised of Dorothy Strickler, Pearl Levangood, and Joyce Deiseman is in charge. The county was also responsible for 30 centerpieces to be used at the banquet. Dorothy Stricer, Betty Wessner, and Gail Malsbury are the committee. Several members throughout the county modeled their own long evening dresses in the fashion show. Berks County was represented by Darlene Yost in the state safety poster contest.

October 4, 1975 was selected for the annual Berks County Convention. The vice president of groups No. 2, 5, 7, 8, and 10 are in charge.

The executive board took affirmative action to increase the amount of reimbursement to the County president for certain county and state functions.

The next meeting of the board will be January 13 at the home of Arlene Hershey, RD1 Bethel.

Keep Family Communication Open

It's important to let youth, especially your own children, know what you stand for and what you stand against. If this is done, James Van Horn, Extension family life specialist at The Pennsylvania State University, says it will be less likely that youth will face the world without having thought about important issues. They'll be on their way to knowing what they stand for.

THE SUGAR CRISIS IS ONE WE DON'T NEED

We seem to be skipping from one crisis to another these days. The world faces the very real threat of a food shortage. Raw materials are in short supply and that supply is growing shorter. The oil emergency is still with us and show little signs of easing.

Perhaps the strangest crisis - if indeed it can be considered one - is the so-called sugar "crisis."

For the past several months, the news media has devoted much of its energies to describing this "crisis." Stories have appeared documenting rising prices, sugar boycotts climbing profits for sugar manufacturers and a host of other anomalies.

The Sugar Association, whose membership includes most of the major sugar manufacturers in the United States, says that rising prices simply reflect supply and demand. There is a spiraling increase in demand around the world that is exceeding available supply.

Unfortunately, the real problem with sugar is not supply and demand. It's the exceedingly important role that sugar has come to play in the lives of most Americans.

Consider this statistic: Per capita, American eat 102 pounds of sugar a year. That means each and every individual in the United States eats almost two pounds of sugar every week. The only foods that outrank sugar consumption are beef at 115.9 pounds and potatoes at 120.2 pounds per person, per year.

For many, sugar has become a way of life, eaten because it "tastes good." Some sugar is hidden in foods, such as cereals, hams or even canned goods. Many Americans, though, have come to look upon sugar as essential to their well being.

My personal sugar intake is difficult to assess. I'd put it at about a half a pound - or less - a year. Sometimes when I'm traveling in a place like London or Paris, and see a confectionary shop, along a street, I'll stop in to buy something sweet.

But it might be another six months or a year before I buy something else that is sweet.

Although no figures exist to back up my contention, I suspect that in Colonial times, people consumed a bare minimum of sugar. And when they did eat it, the sugar-filled items was considered a treat - something that was reserved for very special occasions.

Since 1971, the sugar consumption in the United States has stabilized at the 102-pound figure. There are some who would like to see that level drop. One way to do it, they believe, would be to force cereal manufacturers to cut the amount of sugar they put into their products.

Michael Jacobson, a biologist with the Center for Science in the Public Interest, recently petitioned the Food and Drug Administration to establish a "standard of quality" for breakfast cereals. It would limit the amount of sugar in them to 10 per cent.

Breakfast foods with more than this amount would have to be labeled snack items or print the percentage of sugar on the outside of the box and the statement, "Frequent use contributes to tooth decay and other health problems."

Jacobson says that many American children are eating candy for breakfast and don't know it - or their parents don't know it. He said that research figures put the sugar content of the 12 best-selling products from five different companies between 29 and 45 per cent.

Jacobson acknowledged that other foods, such as condy, pastry and soda pop, were all high in sugar content, too. He believes that sugar is not an integral part of breakfast cereals and could just as easily be added if desired.

The Food and Drug Administration has not replied to the petition nor does it have to, said a spokesman from the CSPI. He said that the FDA commissioner "can simply reject the petition without calling for hearings or public comment."

If you're interested in seeing the amount of sugar in cereals cut or at least having the problem aired, you can write to Commissioner Schmidt, FDA, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Md. 20852. Ask him to hold these important hearings.

The sugar "crisis" is something that we can all do something about. We can start by reducing consumption. Reduce consumption to a logical, healthy level and the "crisis" will disappear in short order. Add all the potential health benefits from eating less sugar and you have two very good reasons for cutting your sugar intake.

Egg Marketing Report

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is issuing a report providing the egg industry with an analysis of the major factors affecting the production and marketing of eggs for the period of July through December 1975. The report, entitles "Egg Marketing Facts–Second Half 1975," will be released about Jan. 6.

Issued by the Agricultural Marketing Service, the report presents decision-making information that should result in the marketing of an adequate supply of eggs at prices reasonable for both producers and consumers. No recommendations are offered.

Demand for eggs in the second half of 1975, according to the report, may be about the same as the year before. While some positive factors are noted, they will be offset by an anticipated large supply of beef and lowered purchasing power resulting from higher unemployment and from real disposable consumer income.

Costs of producing eggs in the second half of 1975, the report states, will hinge largely on the prospects and outcome of the 1975 corn and soybean crops. These crops are important feed ingredients and are used in large quantities by the egg industry. Other costs of producing eggs, as well as processing and marketing costs, will be higher.

A further reduction in flock size during the first half, the report indicates, will significantly affect egg production in the second half with the possibility that the Nation's laying flock could be as much as 7 percent smaller on July 1, 1975, than a year earlier.

Copies of the report will be available from the Information Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA, Washington, D.C., 20250.

GROW BIG HEIFERS FAST WITH PURINA CALF GROWENA

Purina Calf Growena® is specially-formulated to help you grow dairy herd replacements fast, breed them early and freshen them between 22 and 24 months. Calf Growena helps you feed heifers at low cost from 3 through 6 months, yet gives them the protein and energy that fast growth demands. Calf Growena is fortified with vitamins and minerals growing calves need.

Purina Calf Growena is part of the Purina calf growing team to help build sound calf growth fast—and at low cost. To grow heifers fast, feed Purina Nursing Chow® or Nurse-Gro to 4 or 5 weeks and Calf Startena® through 2 months. Then, because growing calves still need a high level of protein and energy, feed Calf Growena through six months of age.

Start your heifers growing fast and producing early with Purina Calf Growena. You can buy it in the 50-lb. bag at the store with the Checkerboard sign.

Seven Master Farmers Named

Seven rural Pennsylvanians were honored as Master Farmers today at a special Farm Show Week luncheon of state agricultural leaders at the Penn Harris Motor Inn.

The seven new Master Farmers won recognition for leadership in farm and civic organizations as well as achievements in agriculture.

Those receiving the coveted award were: Charles N. Dodd, Route 2, Corry, Warren County; Wayne and Harold Lesher, Route 1, Bernville, Berks County; Gerald Parker, Star Route, Liberty, Tioga County; Charles R. Phillips, Box 5, Pillow, Dauphin County; William H. Ringler, Route 1, Berlin, Somerset County; and Richard B. Trostel, Route 1, Biglerville, Adams County.

Charles Dodd is a dairyman in partnership with his father, Leslie, also a Master Farmer, and farms over 1100 acres and milks 257 cows. All milk is sold at their attractive farm retail store.

Wayne and Harold Lesher likewise are dairymen and earned the Master Farmer award as a partnership. The two brothers farm 675 acres and milk 141 cows They sell their milk direct to consumers from their own retail farm store.

Still another dairyman, Gerald Parker, doesn't believe in putting all his eggs in one basket, however, and has diversified his farm operation with laying hens. Both are a commercial venture in their own right - some 80 milk cows and 18,000 laying hens.

Poultryman Charles Phillips specializes in game birds - pheasants and chukar partridges. He sells some 40,000 mature birds each year either live to shooting preserves or as dressed game birds.

William Ringler, a dairyman and potato grower, operates a farm that's been in the family over 200 years. Crops are spread over 450 acres with 55 dairy cows in the milking string. He farms in partnership with his son, Jim.

The only fruit grower in this year's class of Master Farmers, Richard Trostel, has 200 acres of apple, cherry, peach, pear and plum orchards. An innovator, Trostel was one of the first to use dwarf fruit trees and introduced trickle irrigation in Pennsylvania orchards.

The annual Master Farmer Awards Program is cosponsored by the Pennsylvania Farmer magazine and the Penn State Cooperative Extension Service.

Judges for the contest this year were: James A. McHale, Secretary of Agriculture, Harrisburg; Dr. James M. Beattie, Dean of the College of Agriculture, Penn State, State College; and Merrill M. Mordan, Chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Pennsylvania Bankers Association, Honey Brook.

Winners this year were selected from more than 160 nominations.

Mays' Win Entymology Competition

The brother-sister team of Nancy and Alan Mays, 1212 Nissley Road, Lancaster, again took top honors in entomology competition at the Farm Show. Nancy took top prize in the second-year division, while her brother took the top prize for third - year 4-H members.

Jennifer Tate of 1103 Penn Street, Hossidaysburg, Blair County, topped the first year entries, while Alice Slippey, Duncansville R2, Blair County took the honors in competition for fourth-year members.

Geographic Names for Meat

What does a "Vienna Sausage" have in common with a "Swedish-style meatball"?

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) says that the two are quite alike.

Neither of them need come from the country indicated by its name - that is, "Vienna Sausage" doesn't necessarily come Vienna, nor does a "Swedish-style meatball" have to originate from Sweden.

But both geographical terms identify specific types of product and are recognized as such by the public. In addition, says USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), the geographical designations are officially permitted on the label of these federally inspected meat products.

Even though the product's true place of origin is often stated elsewhere on the label, regional or geographical terms used in the names of products are frequently misleading to consumers.

And what the consumer understands by geographical terms is very important when APHIS approves labels of meat and poultry products.

Meat and poultry inspections require that labeling information be truthful and clearly presented so that the general public will not be misled when purchasing these products.

Thus, a recent proposal by APHIS may help clear up some of the confusion these geographical terms cause on meat and poultry items.

In November 1974, APHIS proposed five different categories in which a meat or poultry product might justify the use of geographical terms in its name. Specifically, the regional or geographical designations would be permitted by Federal regulations only if:

1) The geographic statement truthfully represents the origin of the product. For example, a ham actually produced in Denmark could be labeled "Danish ham," or it could be labeled "Virginia ham" if actually produced in Virginia.

2) The geographic term is a trade name or registered trademark and is generally understood as such by consumers to mean the product(s) of a particular manufacturer or distributor, rather than the place of origin. (Registered trademarks, in addition, would have to be identified on the label by a small letter "r" in a circle.)

The geographic trademark or trade name also would be acceptable if it is so fanciful that consumers could not mistake it to represent the origin of the product. For example, consumers would not possibly expect a product labeled "Moon Sausage" to come from the moon.

3) The geographic term is required by a federal standard. For example, Federal meat inspection regulations provide for the use of the names "Frankfurt," "Bologna," and "Vienna" as names for specific types of sausages.

4) The geographic term is generally understood by consumers to mean a particular class or kind of product rather than to indicate the geographical area where the product was produced. Consumers, for example, recognize the geographic term "genoa salami" as a particular kind of salami.

5) The geographical term is a generally recognized style or type of product which consumers identify with and is peculiar to the geographical area indicated by the term. The product must possess the characteristics of such style or type and must be used in conjunction with the word "style" or "type." Some examples would be "Mexican-style burritos" and "German-style sauerbraten."

The USDA proposal also prohibits the use of the word, "brand," to modify a geographical term on meat or poultry products which are not produced in the area indicated by the term. It appears that the significance of the word "brand" may be misunderstood and thereby misleading to the consumer.

In a continuing effort to respond to the needs of the consumer, APHIS urges anyone who has views on the proposal to present them to USDA for consideration.

Written comments should be filed in duplicate with the Hearing Clerk, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

Arrangements for presenting confidential material or oral comments should be made with the Labels and Packaging Staff, Technical Services, Meat and Poultry Inspection Program, APHIS, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

The deadline for all comments - written and oral - on the geographical labeling proposal is Feb. 7, 1975.

More or Less

When Mom heard that familiar crash in the kitchen she shouted "More dishes daughter dear?" A low, squeaky voice replied hesitantly, "No, mother, less"

York Countians Win 5-Acre Corn Club

A pair of York County farmers from Dallastown took the top prizes in shelled corn competition in the 1974 Pennsylvania Five Acre Corn Club it was announced Monday at the Farm Show. Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture James McHale presented the awards to Charles Hess, who won the 1974 shelled grain competition with a 190.5 bushel per acre yield, and to Ray Orner, who compiled a three-year average yield of 164.2 bushels.

The ear corn classes were won by Kenneth Gordon, McConnellsburg R1, Fulton County, with 190.0 bushels per acre in 1974, and by Cumberland County Countian George Stambaugh, Newville R1, with a three-year average yield of 178.6.

The Five Acre Corn Club is sponsored every year by the Penn State Extension Service, and supported by the Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers Association, the Pennsylvania Seedsmen Association, and commerical seed firms. The corn club has been in existence since the late Forties, when it was begun as a means of disseminating information about corn production techniques.

This year, a total of 151 farmers had samples from their fields harvested under the direction of their local county agents. The contestants planted a total of 6794 acres of corn in 36 Pennsylvania counties. The average yield from the sampled fields totaled 128.2 bushels to the acre. Average plant population was 20,082 plants to the acres.

Dr. Joseph McGahen, a Penn State extension agronomist who coordinates the corn club activities, pointed out that the average figures are no true indicator of average corn production in the state. "These tests are run on true production fields," McGahen said. "These fields receive no special care, but they are the best fields from some of the best corn growers in the state. So you can't use the yields as average figures for the state."

Charles Hess' 190.5 bushels of corn came off a Class 1 Chester soil type that had been planted in an alfalfa grass mixture the year before. He applies two tons of lime per acre to his fields every four years. Fertilization for the winning crop included ten tons of cattle manure to the acre for 50-25-50 pounds of NPK respectively. He also plowed down 100-0-0 and applied 30-30-30 in the row for total fertilization of 230-55-80 pounds of NPK.

His corn was planted on April 29 and harvested on October 22. The plant population of 19,508 to the acre was put in 38-inch rows with 8.5 inches between plants. Hess reported above average rainfall for the crop year, and good weed control with one cultivation. His percentage of erect plants was 98.6 his percentage of barren plants was 0.8.

Kenneth Gordon, the ear corn winner, had a 190.0 bushel per acre yield, with an unbeatable 100-percent plants and 0.25 percent barren. His was also a Class 1 soil, but of the Hagerstown variety. The crop on his winning field the previous year was an alfalfa-grass mixture.

Gordon's fertilization program included a ton-and-a-half of lime every four years, and 12 tons of cattle manure. The manure supplied 60-30-60 pounds of NPK to the acre, he plowed down 170-0-60 and banded 20-60-20 for a total of 250-90-140, against soil test recommendations of 220-60-200.

Gordon planted 17,320 plants to the acre in 38-inch rows, with a distance between plants of 9.5 inches. His crop was planted May 1 and harvested after a September 24 frost. Gordon reported average rainfall, no cultivation and good weed control.

In corn club competition, a tie is declared if there is a yield difference of less than three bushels in any one category. There was a tie for second place this year in shelled corn competition, with two more York Countians taking the honors. Richard Wilson, Stewartstown R1, posted a 174.5-bushel yield, while Ray Orner 172.6 bushels.

Second place in the ear corn class went to George Stambaugh, the three-year-average winner, with a 1974 yield of 184.1 bushels to the acre. Third place in ear corn was captured by Galen Boyd, Lebanon R1, with a 177.1 bushel yield.

Corn Growers Group Seeks New Members

Two dollars doesn't buy much these days. But if you're a corn grower, you can still get a bargain by sinking down two bucks for membership in the Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers Association according to Dr. Joseph McGahen, a Penn State Extension agronomist and executive secretary of the PMCGA.

"We're just a fledgeling organization, but we grew out of the Pennsylvania Five Acre Corn Club, which has been around since the late 'forties," McGahen told Lancaster Farming on Monday at the Farm Show.

Conference Room C in the Farm Show Building was never so full as it was this year for the announcement of the Five Acre Corn Club winners. And this year, for the first time, the state's highest agriculture official, Secretary of Agriculture James McHale, presented the awards to the winners. McGahen attributed much of the added interest in this year's contest to the fact that the corn growers are now organized into the Commonwealth's only producer group seeking an active role in corn production research and legislation.

According to McGahen, the association has four major objectives. These are to:

1. Sponsor an annual Pennsylvania Corn Growers Conference.

2. Keep members informed about new developments in corn production, storage, utilization and marketing with newsletters and special reports.

3. Encourage corn grower meetings and other activities.

4. Encourage the correlation of Penn State corn research and the research efforts of private companies engaged in corn production research.

The association's main activity will continue to be the Five Acre Corn Club, McGahen pointed out. "But we also want to get farmer input into corn production education and research. If the organization ever became strong enough, we could even fund our own research.

"This would be cultural research, rather than looking for new hybrids. We'd want to look for better ways of planting. We'd promote more efficient use of fertilizer and herbicides. We'd explore some of the trends we see from the records of the Five Acre Corn Club contestants."

Notable among those trends have been the increased population densities of corn planting and the use of herbicides. "When we first started the contest," McGahen said, "farmers were planting maybe 12,000 plants to the acre. The average this year was almost 21,000 plants.

"In 1958, there was a big jump in the yields. That's the year farmers began using herbicides to control weeds in their corn crops. That's one of the most important things we've seen in corn production, and every year, we see that the farmers with the best weed control are the ones with the best corn production."

Another trend the records show, McGahen pointed out, is a shift to more continuous corn, and a change from ear corn to shelled corn. Along with population increases has come a move to narrower rows. Every year there are fewer and fewer 40-inch rows, and the category that's been growing fastest in the Corn Club records has been the 30-inch row.

While corn production has come a long way since McGahen first taught vo-ag at Lancaster County's Manheim Central High School in 1951, many growers still have a long way to go. "I get called out on 30 or 40 field problems every year," he said, "and 80 or 90 percent of the problems I see wouldn't have developed if the soil had been tested. The biggest problem I find is acidity, which just doesn't make sense to me, because limestone now is just about the cheapest input you can buy.

"The other big problem is improper planting. Seeds are put in too deep or to shallow. Sometimes the fertilizer is to close to the seed, or maybe it's the herbicide. These are the kinds of problems we help we can help farmers solve. These are the kinds of things we hope to keep from becoming problems. I think it's an effort corn growers need, and I hope they support it."

More information about the Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers Association can be had by writing to the group's secretary treasurer, Walter C. Johnson, RD1, Julian, Pa., 16844. Or, growers can become members by simply sending their $2 to Johnson.

Students Make Wreaths

The 7th grade Junior Agriculture Club of Garden Spot High School recently took part in a wreath making contest. One hundred and twenty-five students under the direction of Cheryl Rousseau, instructor; constructed Christmas wreaths with material donated by Stauffer's of Kissel Hill and Dean's Tree Farm in Lititz.

Those students who won prizes for their creations included: 1st - Walter Jones and Lori Peters; 2nd- Sharon Liezert and Dean Horst and 3rd - Bryan Knepper.

The students were allowed to keep the wreaths as part of their Christmas decorations at home.

Rohrer is Farm Show Tobacco Champion

Lancaster County tobacco producers captured all championships in tobacco judging at the 59th Farm Show.

Roy M. Rohrer, of RD1, Strasburg, exhibited both the grand champion wrapper and filler samples, repeating his success a week earlier in the Lancaster County Tobacco Roundup.

In 4-H competition, Arthur Reist, of 1050 Eden Road, Lancaster, exhibited the champion wrapper and his brother, Alfred Reist, showed the champion filler sample.

Marlin Dohner, of RD1, Elizabethtown, won the championship in vocational wrapper classes, and Douglas Rohrer, of 1623 Book Road, exhibited the champion in the filler division.

The top five entries in each class were:

Wrapper B's over 26 inches: 1st - Roy M. Rohrer; 2nd - Eugene M. Rohrer, Strasburg, RD1; 3rd - Michael E. Rohrer, Strasburg, R1; 4th - Timothy Hostetter, Manheim R1; 5th - Marian G. Reist, 1050 Eden Rd., Lancaster.

Wrapper B's, 26 inches and under: 1st - Karen Hostetter, Manheim R1; 2nd - Roy M. Rohrer; 3rd - Alfred G. Reist, 1050 Eden Rd., Lancaster; 4th - Arthur E. Reist, 1050 Eden Rd., Lancaster; 5th - Timothy Hostetter.

Holstein Group To Hold Sales

The Pennsylvania Holstein Association has announced plans for one of the country's major Holstein events of 1975. Involved are two consignment sales and the State Holstein Show on April 17, 18, and 19. All events are scheduled for the Farm Show Building in Harrisburg.

The schedule is as follows: Thursday, April 17 - Pa. State Calf Sale; Friday, April 18 - Pa. State Cow & Bred Heifer Sale; Saturday, April 19 - Pa. State Holstein Show.

The Calf Sale is an annual event with 200 head of Registered Holstein calves under one year old to be sold at auction. A new sales series starts in 1975 with the Cow & Bred Heifer Sale. It is anticipated that nearly 200 head will be consigned by breeders of Registered Holsteins in Pennsylvania. In addition to the females, plans also call for the sale of 10-12 Holstein bulls on Friday.

Both sales are managed by the Pennsylvania Holstein Association. Hired as auctioneers are the R. Austin Backus, Inc. sales organization, Mexico, N.Y. and A. Doty Remsburg, Jefferson, Maryland.

Also an annual event is the State Holstein Show. Past experience indicates that 325-350 head will be paraded before the judge, Richard Brooks, well-known breeder of Paclamar Farms in Colorado. Always one of the largest and highest quality State Shows, the 1975 Pa. State Show should be one of the best ever.

Anticipation is growing among breeders across Pennsylvania as these events get closer. Also, it is known that people from all over the U.S. look forward each year to this big Holstein event. Indicative of this is the fact that in past years nearly 75 percent of the consignments to the Calf Sale were purchased by out-of-state buyers.

With over 700 of top Registered Holsteins, an easily accessable location in Harrisburg, and the organization of five Holstein staff members and 5100 members, everything points toward a successful event. It should be enjoyable and profitable for all consignors, buyers, exhibitors, and spectators.

Further details may be obtained from the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, 839 Benner Pike, State College, Pa.

Be Prepared

Best defense against a farm fire is a good fire extinguisher located in the right place, reminds the Cooperative Extension Service Safety Committee at The Pennsylvania State University. Every farm and home should be equipped with suitable hand extinguishers that are properly maintained and easily reached if needed.

Kuhfuss Addresses Farm Bureau

Imposition of price and wage controls by the new Congress could trigger cutbacks in food output by farmers and ranchers, a national farm leader related recently.

Addressing the opening session of the 56th annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation in the Rivergate Convention Center, William J. Kuhfuss, president of the Federation, expressed concern over recommendations of Congressional leaders for bringing back ceilings on food prices.

"Government price ceiling at any level of the food pipeline put a lid on returns to farmers. Livestock producers still find themselves in a loss position due to the effects of the 1973 price controls," Kuhfuss said.

"Hog and poultry producers have begun a cutback in production as the result of depressed prices in the face of high production costs. Cattle feeding operations have been cut severely and culling and marketing of older cows for slaughter increased in 1974. The percentage of the calf crop marketed for slaughter also increased significantly last year. Livestock is the balance wheel for agriculture. Roughly 80 percent of our feed grains are marketed through livestock.

"Government intereference in the operation of the market in the form of price controls in 1973 seriously disrupted livestock production cycles. If the government refrains from repeating such interference, the market will make needed adjustments and both farmers and consumers will be better off than they would be under price controls.

"Grain producers have lost confidence in politicians who bowed to pressures from domestic users of farm commodities and allowed embargoes to be put on soybean exports in 1973 and thus threatened future export markets. This experience will cause farmers to hesitate to increase production this year unless there is definite assurance before planting time from the Administration and Congress that export controls will not be invoked on 1975 crops," Kuhfuss said.

With production costs such as fertilizer and seed at record highs, producers cannot afford to be shut out of the world markets. We are part of the world market and the world economy, the farm leader said.

"Freedom from trade restraints is the best incentive that can be provided for the increased U.S. grain production that is sorely needed for both domestic and foreign markets.

"A high level of agricultural exports is needed not only to provide markets for American farmers, but also to help pay for needed imports of oil and other products. Labor and business likewise have a great stake in world trade. Every $1 billion of exports creates 40,000 to 50,000 jobs in service industries and agricultural exports amounted to $21.3 billion in fiscal 1974.

In referring to the threat of price controls, Kuhfuss pointed out that Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield has proposed legislation to give President Ford authority to impose controls on every segment of the economy. House Speaker Carl B. Albert, he reported, recently proposed a New Deal type of economic relief program and said that the time may soon come when the government will have to invoke price and wage controls.

"It is obvious that such recommendations are politically motivated," Kuhfuss said, "as some members of Congress seek to placate consumers about higher costs of everything they buy through invoking price controls.

"There is a real danger that Congress will embark on a wide range of inflationary spending programs and then use price and wage controls as a coverup and a diversion of public attention from the basic cause of inflation - government deficit spending. Such spending can only add to our double-digit inflation.

"The same Congressmen who express alarm over rising food prices and call for government price controls fail to express concern over the endless increases in wages gained by organized labor which have been a contributing factor to widening retail food margins.

"Some of these politicans are seeking a return to a cheap food policy with huge federal subsidies to farmers to compensate them for lower market prices.

"Farm Bureau, the largest general farm organization in the nation with 2.3 million member families, has this message for Congressmen who want to bring back the discredited farm subsidy programs: farmers and ranchers have a right to seek a fair return in the market place and a right not to be dependent on the federal treasury for handouts to supplement family farm income.

"Farmers and ranchers can and will meet increasing demand at home and abroad for food, but only if they have an opportunity to receive a fair return for their labor and investment in a free market. We do not need more government regulations to interfere with production and add to the cost of doing business. We need less taxes, less waste, less politics and more statesmanship from our legislators and an assurance that producers will have freedom to buy and sell.

"It is time to quit playing politics with inflation. Inflation has reached avalanche proportions in the past two decades, both here and around the world, and stern measures will be necessary just to slow it down. Some adjustments will be painful, but actions to stop inflation must be taken or the alternative is a continuing erosion of our economic strength, increasing unemployment, and an ultimate deflation that could be a national disaster.

"One way Congress can cut spending is to stop creating new federal agencies and thus halt costly additions to payrolls. Every new government agency swells the already bloated federal payrolls, puts a new burden on the taxpayer and adds to the cost of doing business. These increased business costs are passed on to the consumer in higher prices."

Discussing world food aid, Kuhfuss said that it was apparent that the United States cannot by itself feed a hungry world with every increasing population growth.

"The affluent nations must bear their fair share of world food aid," Kuhfuss said.

"The responsibility of this country in food aid is a national responsibility. Farmers and ranchers should, and do, share this responsibility as taxpayers. But they should not be expected to produce food for aid programs without a fair return for the product any more than workers and management should be asked to accept lower wages or lower prices for industrial commodities that go to aid recipients.

"Farmers and ranchers realize that we all have an obligation to our fellowmen in times of adversity and famine conditions such as exist today in Bangladesh, Central Africa, and other drouth stricken areas," Kuhfuss said.

"While our nation has been fortunate in never having experienced a food famine, our agricultural producers know the feeling of helplessness that comes as they see crops and livestock destroyed by drouth of floods. Because of the diversity and wide geographical range of U.S. farm production, we have been able to overcome the effects of bad weather in scattered areas."

Kuhfuss pointed out that the nation's farmers, in the past several decades, produced a surplus of commodities which has enabled the United States to extend food aid valued at $40 billion to other countries since the beginning of World War II, and 84 percent of all food aid extended from 1965 to 1972.

Kuhfuss also said that reducing U.S. meat consumption to provide more grain for international food needs would add little to world supplies and would seriously disrupt the efficient and productive operations of American agriculture since cattle are efficient users of grasses and forage from millions of acres of land not suitable for grain production. Only one-third of the total poundage of meat comes from grain, Kuhfuss said. The remaining two-thirds is produced from otherwise unusable forage crops.

To meet emergency food needs throughout the world, Kuhfuss said Farm Bureau favors the establishment of an International Monetary Food Fund supported by all the nations of the world. To meet disaster needs, funds could be withdrawn from the Fund to purchase needed supplies from any nation where it is available.

Discussing Farm Bureau's accomplishments, Kuhfuss said Farm Bureau believes in cooperative buying and selling for its members.

"Our affiliated Farm Bureau Service Company purchased for farmers more than $34 million in tires, batteries and a limited number of other needs and saved farmers more than $8 million in 1974.

"The American Agricultural Marketing Association, an affiliate of the American Farm Bureau Federation, now provides service to 45 state Farm Bureau affiliated marketing associations in 40 states. Producers of approximately 50 different commodities receive marketing services from these 45 AAMA affiliated associations.

"The AAMA sold nearly 6 million hens for poultrymen in 1974. Fruit and vegetable operations have been a productive part of the AAMA's program for 15 years. The livestock program, although hindered by an unusually depressed feeder cattle market the past year continues to offer services to assist participating state associations in direct marketing programs.

"The commodity and legislative interests of members are being better served through the Farm Bureau Speedline, a new telecommunications system, which provides prompt two-way communications and enables State Farm Bureaus and the Federation to be more effective in their operations.

"The American Agricultural Insurance Company's insurance problems are being settled and the company will continue to serve the reinsurance needs for the Farm Bureau Insurance Companies.

"Farm Bureau membership is at a new record high--2,393,731 member families in 49 states and Puerto Rico. We have had an increase in membership every year for the past 14 years and more than a 100,000-member-family gain in each of the past four years. Four out of five farmers who belong to a general farm organization belong to Farm Bureau.

"Let us not lose sight of the principle that farmers must speak for farmers--not politicians or agribusiness, or social clubs or a select group of columnists, or any other non-farm group. We need their understanding support, but let us not relinquish the right of farmers to speak for farmers.

"It has been a great year for Farm Bureau, as well as a time of change. We are not satisfied with our accomplishments, but we are pleased. The future is brighter for agriculture than many other segments of our economy. There is a new appreciation for food in the world. Food and fiber production is our business."

Area Farmers Win Corn Awards

Special recognition for their ability as corn growers will be given to two farmers from this area by The Producers of Funk's G-Hybrids.

Their documented 1974 yields were recorded in the Funk's-G Project: 200 national high-yield corn growing contest. Announcement of the yields was made by Lester Erb of Elizabethtown, representing A. H. Hoffman Seeds, Inc.

The award winning corn growers, their yields and hybrids are: J. Harold Musser, Mt. Joy, 155.2 bushels per acre with Funk's G-4646; and Lloyd M. Sensenig, Annville, 140.2 bushels per acre with G-4646.

Both yields were adjusted to No. 2 corn at 15.5 percent moisture.

Project: 200 was designed to challenge growers to increase corn yields for greater productivity and profit. Yield results and the agronomic practices used to achieve them are then shared with corn growers everywhere. More than 15,000 U.S. and Canadian growers have entered Project: 200 during the past three years, making it America's most meaningful high-yield corn growing contest.

To quality for Project: 200, participants harvest as shelled corn a minimum of two acres from not less than four rows running the full length of the field. Information contained in the entries is verified by a reputable, disinterested witness.

A computerized summary of Project: 200 agronomic information is made available to corn growers each year by Funk Seeds International, Inc. With this information, corn growers can compare their corn growing methods to those used by other top producers.

Apiary Winners

The Dauphin County Beekeepers Association placed first in the collective county honey exhibit at the 59th Farm Show. Chairman of the Dauphin County group is M. E. Murry, of 101 Creekside Drive, Enola.

David Hackenburg, of RD3, Lewisburg, Union County, took the championship in the individual exhibit division.

The top specialty pack was exhibited by Daniel Brubaker, of RD1, Ephrata, Lancaster County. Brubaker won the same award at last year's show.

The best exhibit of commercial beeswax and extracted honey was shown by Earl V. Miller of RD3, Dover, York County; the best exhibit of molded or designed beeswax was shown by M. E. Murray, of Enola; and the best exhibit of comb honey was won by Fred Rich, of 226 Rittenhouse Road, Royersford, Montgomery County.

Lehigh, Lancaster and York County beekeepers shared all championships in 4-H honey competition.

Mark Lichtenwalner, of RD2, Macungie, Lehigh County, exhibited the first place sample of light comb honey, and John Brenner, of Lititz, Lancaster, showed the first place white extracted sample.

Matthew Miller of RD3, Dover, York County, won two first places with his entries in the amber and extra light amber classes.

Timothy Billig, of RD1, New Tripoli, Lehigh County, captured two first places in vocational honey. He won in the amber and light amber classes.

Bernard Pisarchick, of RD1, Brockway, Jefferson County, exhibited the first place white extracted display, and William Sprague, of RD1, Falls Creeks, Jefferson County, exhibited the first place sample in the extra light amber class.

Gravy and Ham

Kentucky is famous for fine food. One native recipe calls for soaking a ham in bourbon for a day, then cooking it just a little. The second day, add a bottle of Jamaican rum and cook some more. Add wine and rye whiskey on the third and fourth days. The ham may not turn out but you'll have some powerful gravy!

Breeding Management Meeting Tues. on Dairy

The Garden Spot Adult Farmer Program will conduct a study on Dairy Breeding Management on Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. at the Garden Spot High School agriculture classroom.

All interested local farmers and agri-businessmen are invited. The meeting will cover various management aspects of breeding dairy cattle with special emphasis on getting heifers settled.

Program topics and speakers include: Selecting Sires for Use on Heifers, with Willis Ritchy from Atlantic Breeders Cooperative; Handling the Hard to Settle Cows and Heifers, with Walter Trumbauer, D.V.M. from Ephrata; Contracting Heifers, with LaVerne Barrett, heifer contractor and vo-ag instructor in Berks Co.; and, A New Kind of Breeding Record System, with Raymond Zimmerman from Raytec Manufacturing Co. in the Martindale area.

This 4-barreled approach to one of the dairy industry's biggest problems will present time-proven management practices along with new ideas and concepts. Ample time for questions and answers will be made available.

Ice Capades Returns To Hershey

Ice Capades reutrns to its birthplace, Hershey, Pennsylvania, for 10 dazzling performances opening February 11 thru 16 at the Hershey-park Arena.

Ice Capades was born in Hershey 35 years ago when a group of Arena owners met at the Hotel Hershey in 1940, which by coincidence was also Valentine's Day, to discuss the conception of an ice show to play their Arenas. It was unanimous that such a production should be organized immediately to play the 1940-41 season.

Upon that historic proclamation at the Hotel Hershey, Ice Capades was born. Now in its 35th year, Ice Capades has played to more than 120 million people. Since 1970, Hersheypark Arena has registered more than 380,000 spectators with close to 76,000 people at last year's performances at the Arena.

The Hersheypark Arena has arranged special dinner plans at Hotel Hershey, Hershey Motor Lodge and Convention Center and Parkview Manor for the Wednesday and Thursday performances. Also, guests can be a part of history on Valentine's Day, the original birthdate of Ice Capades, with dinner plans available for the 4:30 matinee and evening performances.

Ice Capades for 1975 is a show of movement to music, all played on the smooth white stage of ice at the Hersheypark Arena.

An incredible juggler and showman at age thirteen, Albert Lucas puts it altogether on ice, "In a Juggling Vein", when he appears with the 35th Anniversary Edition of Ice Capades, opening at the Hersheypark Arena for 10 performances from Feb. 11 through 16.

Christmas Tree Winners

Proctor Wetherill, of RD, Chester Springs, Chester County, exhibited the champion White Spruce Christmas tree at the Farm Show. Flemings Christmas Tree Farm, of Indiana, won the White Pine title; Gay Fad Nurseries, of Reading, Berks County, won in general firs classes; and Harvest Moon Farms, of Effort, Monroe County, had the highest placing tree in the general spruce category.

Leidens Nursery, of Patton, Cambria County, won a total of five titles in Christmas tree judging. Leidens entries won championships in Scotch Pine, Douglas Fir, Norway Spruce, Australian Pine and Red Pine categories.

Junior Simmental Club to Form

A national American Junior Simmental Association will be formed during American Simmental's annual convention, February 18-23, 1975, at Houston.

John R. "Bobby" Lawrence, Leesburg, Georgia, said junior members of ASA,19 years of age and under, will meet at 3 p.m. Friday, February 21, in the Astroworld Hotel to form the national organization. Lawrence, a Simmental breeder, is an ASA trustee and chairman of its State and Youth Committee.

Lawrence said junior ASA members would have their own hospitality suite during the convention and special workshops are being scheduled from them Friday morning of convention week. Dr. Bernard Jones of Curtiss Breeding Service and American Breeders Service' Dr. Paul Miller will team up to tell junior Simmentalers "How to use the National Simmental Sire Summary." And Dorothy Fahrenbruch, ASA recording secretary, will review procedures for registering Simmental cattle.

Lawrence said affiliated state organizations are playing a major role in Simmental promotion. He reported that ASA has 38 state association affiliates, 5 state women's auxiliaries, and 11 state junior associations.

ASA's 7th annual convention will be held as a compact business meeting and educational symposium, February 22, and its 5th annual national sale will be Sunday, February 23. All events are in the Astroworld Hotel or Astrohall at Houston and are being held during Houston's Stock Show and Rodeo.

Logging Safety Week

The Pennsylvania Logging Safety Council has set the week of January 12-18, 1975, as Logging Safety Week throughout Pennsylvania. During this week of celebrating, a special logging safety film made on location in Pennsylvania by the Hammermill Paper Company will highlight the evening safety program set for Dillsburg Fire Hall on Jan. 16th at 7:30 p.m. The evening program will consist of remarks by Robert V. Clark, Executive Director of The Pennsylvania Forestry Association and The Pennsylvania Logging Safety Council in regard to activities and legislation pertaining to logging and sawmill operation. In addition, he will discuss the current program of Workmen's Compensation and Health and Accident Insurance available through the Association to members only. Country and Western Music will also be a part of the evening program with refreshments and door prizes concluding the program.

Local committee members and arrangements are being handled by Chairman, Earl Renninger, Renninger Lumber Co., Richfield, Pa.; Secretary, Ray Brooks, The Glatfelter Pulp Wood Co., Spring Grove, Pa.

For additional free ticket information telephone 717-766-5371.

The Council, which includes logging foremen and supervisors as well as contractors, requires members to pledge regular inspection of all equipment, use of heavy canopies to protect equipment operators and hardhats and safety boots to protect men generally. The Council requires that each job be studied with one major goal in mind: Prevention of Injury.

In addition to the Logging Safety Week Celebration in Dillsburg, additional programs will be given throughout the week in Kane, Allport, Bedford, and Wyalusing.

RONALD D. WEST SALES

THE WARREN SLINGERLAND COMPLETE DAIRY & EQUIPMENT DISPERSAL

Due to ill health and the farm I was renting has been sold, I must vacate the premises by January 1st, so I am selling my entire Holstein Dairy and full line of Farm Equipment on Saturday, January 11th beginning at 10:00 A.M. Sale will be held at the RONALD D. WEST FARM located on Rte. 660, halfway between Mansfield, Penna. and Wellsboro, Penna. WATCH FOR AUCTION ARROWS.

CATTLE

THE SLINGERLAND DAIRY consists of 66 Holstein Cows. Several Cows will be fresh day of sale. Large amount of cows handling calves. These cows are thin in flesh but excellent producers and with proper care will make excellent replacements for anyone's dairy. Blood & T.B. tested, pregnancy checked. Because of his necessity to vacate the recently sold farm, all must be sold day of sale!

THE PAUL McCARTHY CATTLE: Due to the loss of his dairy and barn by fire, Mr. McCarthy is selling the animals that were saved at this same sale. Consisting of 27 Holsteins (2-yr. old heifers and stock bulls) Blood & T.B. tested. These animals came from an outstanding dairy and all heifers sired by Purebred Holstein Bulls. As the McCarthy's have no place for them, they are here at the sale site until sale day and will all be liquidated at that time.

THE EARL BENSON BEEF CATTLE: We will also be selling (the same day) 34 head of Black Angus & Hereford beef cows & calves that were the Earl Benson herd. These animals also must be liquidated as Mr. Benson passed away recently.

ALL ANIMALS ELIGIBLE FOR INTERSTATE.

FOR TOP MILK PRODUCTION IN LANCASTER CO.
ON DHIA ROLLING HERD AVERAGE FOR 1974

32 COWS 18,034 Lbs. MILK 630 Lbs. FAT

"Two years ago I couldn't get Bertha bred. I almost sent her to the meat pen, but decided to give Super Micro a chance. She settled and this past year she gave 20,543 pounds milk. On her last lactation she settled the first time I bred her. She freshened on Nov. 10, 1974, was tested Dec. 13, 1974 with 101.1 pounds milk, and on Jan. 2, 1975 with 118.8 pounds of milk. This is the highest I ever had in my life."

Bertha almost went to the meat pen!

Testimonial

"We were asked what we thought of the Agri King feeding program and if we thought we were receiving any benefits from it. I had to think back to how it started. In November 1972 our milk tester introduced the program to us. It sounded foolish to us because we didn't believe we could get more milk. At the time we were shipping 57 pounds milk per cow per day on milking cows and in December 1972 our rolling herd average was 14,610 pounds milk and 537 pounds fat. However, we did have a lot of problems we would have liked to get rid of. The cows wouldn't hold production for any length of time, they retained their afterbirth, and had a lot of milk fever.

I always thought good cows got milk fever, but I changed my mind. It isn't necessary for cows to get milk fever if you feed them a balanced ration. I find that if we have problems now, it is my fault.

What amazes me is how the cows hold high production throughout the year. In the past 13 months we had 6 solid months over 60 pounds milk per cow per day on milking cows, and 6 months between 50 pounds and 60 pounds of milk. Only one month had production under 50 pounds of milk and that was 49.7 pounds. In December 1974 our rolling herd average was 18,816 pounds milk and 652 pounds fat. At the present time we have fine cows milking an average of 105 pounds milk per cow per day.

Psalms 68:19 — 'Blessed by the Lord, who daily loadeth us with benefits, even the God of our salvation.' We as God's stewards must use these benefits to the best of our ability with the knowledge he has entrusted to us."
